HARRY J. SCOTT DIED SUNDAY

Former Manager of Canadian Explosives Ltd.; Came Here 45 Years Ago

Harry J. Scott, a resident of Victoria for forty-five years and one of its most respected and widely known citizens, passed away yesterday morning at his residence, Craigdarroch, after a lengthy illness. Mr. Scott had been in poor health for the last few years, but was able to be about until a few weeks ago, when he took a sudden turn for the worse, and the end had been expected for some days. CAME HERE AT SIXTEEN. A native of Campbellford, Ontario, the late Mr. Scott came to Victoria with his mother when sixteen years of age. He early identified himself with the Hamilton Powder Company, which at that time had an office in this city, subsequently becoming manager of the local branch. Through his instrumentality the firm secured the contract to supply the powder used in the Dunsmuir Collieries at Nanaimo, and eventually erected a powder factory at Nanaimo. Mr. Scott superintending its erection. When the Hamilton Company was absorbed by the Canadian Explosives Limited, Mr. Scott continued as manager, and was made a director of the Victoria Chemical Agency when that concern was amalgamated with the Canadian Explosives Limited. In 1913, Mr. Scott retired from active management, but continued to look after the company.

OCEAN FLIERS AT NEW YORK

Great Throngs Welcome
Three Men Who Flew From Ireland to Canada

New York, April 30.—Three transatlantic fliers from foreign shores were taken to this city's heart to-day and given a tumultuous welcome. The occasion was the official welcome to Captain Herman Koehl, Major James Fitzmaurice and Baron Gunther von Huenefeld, who flew from Baldonnel, Irish Free State, to Greenly Island, Quebec, and it was a welcome in which all the city seemed to participate.

After a triumphal tour of the harbor, during which the Irish airman, like a boy at play, amused himself by manipulating the city tug's siren in answer to the shrill salutes of a hundred flag-decked craft, the fliers were taken through the "deep canyons" of the lower city by 10,000 troops for their official welcome by the mayor. A light rain fell upon the pageant, but it went unheeded alike by the guests of honor and those who had stood long hours for a chance to see and cheer them.

PAPER BLIZZARD

The rain was light, but a storm of another sort, the paper blizzard that New York stages for its heroes, raged.

FREE TRADE IN EMPIRE MUST COME

Says S. J. R. Saunders Speaking of British Manufacturing Interests in Canada

Free trade within the Empire is the hope of the manufacturing interests in Great Britain, and will eventually be brought about, according to S. J. Reginald Saunders of London, Eng., who is staying at the Empress Hotel.

"There is a more pronounced desire among the business people of Great Britain to understand more fully conditions as they exist in all parts of the Empire with a view to developing inter-Dominion trade and the mutual absorption of Empire products," said Mr. Saunders to a Times representative to-day.

There is a growing interest in Britain in overseas trade, and it is only a matter of time before Empire free trade will become an established fact, in the opinion of Mr. Saunders.

commendations For Assistance of Ex-Soldiers

Ottawa, April 30.—Important recommendations respecting pensions and returned soldiers' problems are set out in a report tabled in the House of Commons this afternoon. The report was presented by Maj. C. G. Power, Liberal, Quebec South, chairman of a special committee appointed by the Commons early in February. Recommendations made by the committee include:

- 1.—Removal of time limit for filing applications for pension.
- 2.—Establishment of new class of pensioners to make eligible widows who married soldiers after appearance of disability.
- 3.—Extension of returned soldiers' insurance act so that applications may be receivable until 1933.
- 4.—Establishment of class of dependent parents or those in place of parents, who are entitled to receive pensions.
- 5.—Broadening of application of merit clause and alternation in departmental machinery so that pensions may be paid in meritorious cases on decision of boards of pension commissioners alone, or on appeal, on ruling of the Federal Appeal Board.
- 6.—Pensions to dependents where aggravation substantially contributed to death.
- 7.—Formulation of policy to give immediate relief of pressing cases of unemployment and an investigation by commission, or otherwise of methods in use in Canada or other countries for dealing with the ex-soldiers' unemployment problem by way of institutional career or otherwise.

British Government Gives Egyptians Till 7 p.m. May 2 to Meet Its Request; Provisions of Measure Objected to Limit Police in Keeping Order at Public Meetings; Warships Sent to Alexandria

London, April 30.—The Egyptian Government has until 7 p.m. May 2 to comply with the British Government's demand that the bill for the regulation of public meetings and demonstrations be withdrawn from the Egyptian Parliament.

Sir Austen Chamberlain, Foreign Secretary, in making this announcement in the House of Commons to-day, said that Lord Lloyd, British High Commissioner in Egypt, on instructions from the British Government, had handed to the Egyptian Premier final warning last evening.

The British note requested the Premier, as head of the Egyptian Government, to immediately take the necessary steps to prevent the Public Assemblies Bill from becoming law and also requesting him to give categorical assurance in writing that the measure would not be proceeded with. Should this assurance not reach it before 7 p.m. May 2, the British Government would consider itself free to take such action as the situation might seem to require.

Commander Kenworthy asked if there was any truth in the statement made this morning that vessels of the fleet had been ordered to Egypt from Malta. The Foreign Secretary replied he should prefer to add nothing to the statement he had just made.

Valetta, Island of Malta, April 30.—The British battleships Warspite and Valiant, which were reported to have been ordered to Egypt, left the harbor here this morning.

London, April 30.—Several British battleships and cruisers sailed this morning from Malta for Alexandria, Egypt, in connection with an Anglo-Egyptian note which revolves around the Egyptian Public Assemblies Bill.

An ultimatum demanding withdrawal of the bill before 7 p.m. May 2 was handed the Egyptian Government last night. The situation to-day was grave and fraught with serious possibilities. (Continued on page 15)

REPEAL OF SEWER PACT NOW URGED

Ald. Wm. Marchant Suggests Break With Saanich Over Northwest Sewer

The repeal of the Victoria-Saanich northwest sewer by-law will be moved by Alderman William Marchant at the regular meeting of the City Council this evening, it is understood, following a report by the water committee that Saanich had varied the terms of the agreement in regard to sewage quantities provided for on the basis of hourly flow.

Also before the council to-night will be a report of the industrial committee, recommending special action in regard to the industrial policy of the city. What the report would be members of the committee declined to state to-day, in advance of the report reaching the city council for discussion.

The council will sit at 7:30 p.m. to hear representations from a delegation of Quadra Street residents who have petitioned against the present limits of the unimproved area east of Douglas Street, near the brickyards.

After a relatively light agenda the council is expected to go into committee on estimates, with the expectation of completing budget discussion at this or the following meeting. The mill rate must be set by May 15, according to the regulations.

VANCOUVER TAXI
MAN ACQUITTED

Vancouver, April 30.—On his second trial in the Assize court here, Antonio Morelle, taxi driver, was acquitted to-day by the jury of a charge of manslaughter for the death of John P. Lawson.

action under the present laws, or new legislation, would solve the matter. "In view of the fact that the train involved is beyond the confines of the United States," he said, "it is doubtful whether administrative action under existing laws, such as the United States Grain Standards Act, or new legislation supplementing it, would be effective in caring for the situation. It does appear, however, that some good may be accomplished by close negotiations with Canadian officials and the Secretary of State has undertaken this."

In letters to Secretary Jardine and Secretary of State Kellogg, Senator Walsh called for "concerted endeavors" to remedy the handicap that United States ports were under at present.

Jury At the Currie Trial To-day Hears Closing Addresses

Cobourg, Ont., April 30.—General Sir Arthur Currie's suit for $50,000 for alleged libel entered the last phase here when Frank Regan, chief defence counsel, started on his address to the jury at 1:40 p.m. shortly after the sitting had been resumed.

W. T. R. Preston, co-defendant with F. W. Wilson, will later address the jury on his own behalf.

MOTION RULED OUT

W. H. Hall, of counsel for the defence, made objection with respect to the service of the writs. He submitted the notice had not been served until July 28. The first service was improperly drawn, he said, and there had been an improper leading.

The judge ruled the first notice was such as the act required, and secondly, that since the address and name of the defendant was not printed at the head of the editorial column, Mr. Hall's motion was not valid.

REGAN'S ADDRESS

"In opening my address, I would first pay my respects to the court," said Mr. Regan.

He begged the judge's forgiveness for trying his patience, but his intention was to try to place before the court evidence which he thought relevant. It was not to delay the trial nor to embarrass the jury.

Mr. Regan also paid a tribute to W. H. Tilley, K.C., chief counsel for the plaintiff.

AN APPRECIATION

To the Editor:—As a visitor to your fair city, I should like to express my appreciation of the music which I heard in the Metropolitan Church last evening. By a strange coincidence the words of the anthem and the solo, which came a little later in the service, were both taken from Cardinal Newman's famous hymn, "Lead Kindly Light." The interpretations were both beautifully rendered. The lady who sang the solo number having a particularly beautiful voice, and to my mind gave an almost perfect rendering of an all too seldom heard setting of "Lead Thou Me On."

Again expressing my appreciation of good music amongst the beautiful surroundings of Victoria.

"A VISITING MUSICIAN."

JURY AT CURRIE TRIAL HEARS CLOSING ADDRESS

Mr. Regan said he felt everything should be placed before the jury and in order to do this the whole article complained of should be read.

Mr. Regan started to read the article, which began that the plaque had been unveiled in Mons. It had been felt nearly ten years after that justice was required to be done to those to whom glory was due, he said. There had been enormous loss of life during the war. The plaintiff had come into court and had had to admit it, without qualification, said Mr. Regan. As a result of this there were phases of the campaign which had to be passed over, but the fact of loss of life was not denied.

AT END OF WAR

Mr. Regan continued reading the article. He dealt with the phrase: "It was the last day and the last hour and almost the last minute, when the commander-in-chief conceived the mad idea that it would be a fine thing to say that the Canadian Corps had fired the last shot in the Great War."

It was absurd to assume this was a literal fact, said Mr. Regan. What was meant was that it was in the dying hours of the war.

GLOIFICATION QUESTION

Respecting the words "commander-in-chief," the defence did not admit the term applied to Sir Arthur Currie. As to glorification, Mr. Regan asked who had been glorified. Not Private Price, who was shot at three minutes to eleven, but the Canadian headquarters staff, he said.

All the article indicated was that the idea in mind was to have the Canadians fire the last shot. "Canadians headquarters" sounded the advance on the retreating Germans. The men were sent on and headquarters, with conspicuous bravery, brought up the rear. These were the facts, said Mr. Regan.

GRIEVE OVER LOSSES

"There were hearts in Fort Hope stricken with grief due to this drunken spree on the part of headquarters," the article continued.

Mr. Regan continued his reading to the effect that when the headquarters staff were congratulating themselves a sergeant came up and told them how their lines were in danger and that headquarters had to get into their motor cars and flee from Mons.

What was the issue between the defendant Wilson and Sir Arthur Currie? asked Mr. Regan. General Currie said there was no attack on Mons and there was no loss on Armistice Day. Mr. Wilson had said there was an attack on Mons and there was loss of life. Sir Arthur said there was an order from Marshal Foch to continue the advance. Mr. Wilson said there was no such order. As far as Mons was concerned, Mr. Wilson included all the fighting that was done to advance the line east of Mons, because in order to protect the men billeted in Mons they had to advance the line east of Mons. This must necessarily result in an attack. Sir Arthur Currie did not know about an armistice, or if he did not know he should have known, entrusted as he was with the lives of 500,000 men and representing the people of Canada, said Mr. Regan.

FRIESTON SPEAKS

Cobourg, Ont., April 30.—Opening his address to the jury on his own behalf as one of the defendants in the Sir Arthur Currie suit, W. T. R. Frieston this afternoon declared that when he wrote the article "Mons" he believed it in the "public interest to do so. He stated evidence had been adduced to support every word of the article which had been published in The Port Hope Guide, and which Sir Arthur Currie was charged libelous in its declarations concerning the Armistice Day fighting at Mons, 1918.

Mr. Frieston began his address to the jury after a two-hour review of the case by Frank Regan, chief defence counsel.

SIR RICHARD TURNER TESTIFIED

At Saturday's session of the trial Lieut.-Gen. Sir Richard Turner, D.S.O., V.C., testified. He said he had been chief military adviser to the Dominion Overseas Minister in London in November. He said he was sorry to see the mention of any message supposed to have been received on November 10 in London by Major Nickle of Kingston, for Major Nickle was his secretary. In any case, the regular channel for communication was not from General Headquarters in France to Canadian Headquarters in London, but between Canadian Headquarters and the War Office.

REPUTATION DISCUSSED

Asked by counsel what Sir Arthur Currie's reputation was, Sir Richard said:

"Any man who had a military reputation like General Currie is to be envied. I know when Lord Byng went to the Third Army he recommended General Currie as corps commander."

This was also recommended by General Sir Douglas Haig and acted on. This was taken up by the Canadian Government and given effect to.

"Let me put it this way," continued Sir Richard. "If I was a farmer and saw good buildings and well tilled fields, I'd say that man was on his job. When I went to France I saw battalions and batteries and brigades at the height of efficiency. I spoke to officers and men and knew Sir Arthur was highly regarded."

With regard to Major Nickle's evidence, witness reiterated in answer to questions by Mr. Regan, that he had received no such message, nor could he think it could have come as an emergency call. He explained the proper channels of communication.

GENERAL MACBRIEN TESTIFIES

Major-General J. H. MacBrien was asked as to Sir Arthur Currie's reputation.

"I have the utmost admiration for General Currie's military ability. His reputation is of the highest order. I served in several capacities in France and had special opportunities of establishing what his reputation was."

General MacBrien declared he probably knew more of the officers of the Overseas Dominions than any other officer.

The sending of the Canadian Corps from one army to another was referred to, and General MacBrien affirmed that on account of its size, the Canadian Corps was probably moved less than any other corps.

Mr. Regan—There was a dinner the other night at Ottawa in connection with some battles. You were present, were you not?

Witness—Yes.

Counsel—Did you mention Sir Arthur Currie?

Witness—Yes, I said he was fighting the battle of all of the officers of the Canadian Corps.

Counsel—That was a most improper remark.

Witness—No, it was a proper remark.

Counsel—In other words you lined up the officers.

Witness—Yes, and the non-commissioned officers, too.

Mr. Regan suggested he had not lined up the privates who had done the fighting, whereupon the general retorted that the privates did their fighting alongside their non-commissioned officers and officers.

Asked if he had said anything else, General MacBrien said he had declared that "it was sometimes the mark of a very strong people to show ingratitude to their great men."

LIEUT.-COL. McLAUGHLIN TESTIFIES

Lieut.-Col. L. T. McLaughlin, former British commander of the Second Canadian Infantry Battalion, gave brief testimony. He said Sir Arthur Currie had an enviable reputation among the officers and men in France, and that he was regarded as one of the best commanders on the Western front.

Mr. Regan did not cross-examine.

OFFICIATED AT FUNERALS

Rev. G. D. Kilpatrick of Ottawa testified he had entered Mons on the morning of November 11. He had seen two dead Canadians on the way to Mons on the outskirts of the city.

He had officiated at the funerals of ten Canadians in Mons.

When Dr. Kilpatrick stood down the case for the plaintiff closed, and court was adjourned till to-day.

RAN AGROUND

Sydney, N.S., April 30.—Indications to-day around Scatarie Island, off the east coast of Cape Breton Island, were that the Dutch steamer Callisto had broken up and sunk with its crew after running aground in a thick fog late Saturday night or early yesterday morning, according to messages received to-day by the local agent of the Marine and Fisheries Department of Canada. As the fog still persisted no definite information could be obtained regarding the vessel's fate.

The Government icebreaker Montcalm was ordered to the vicinity of Scatarie to search the south coast of the island as closely as the fog would permit, but nothing could be seen of the stranded steamer.

TWO FLIERS KILLED

Columbia Station, Ohio, April 30.—Two young men were burned to death when their plane went into a tail spin association with the Hamilton company and the Canadian Explosives Limited took him throughout the province in the early days, where he made a host of friends, and his experiences in the pioneer farming communities remained a constant source of reminiscence in later years, and his passing will be sincerely mourned throughout British Columbia.

In his youth Mr. Scott was a noted sportsman and athlete. He was particularly interested in cycling, and was the first to introduce the old high-wheel bicycle to Victoria. He also had the distinction of being one of the little group of Victoria men who, under the auspices of the Canadian Highway Association first motored from the Coast to Calgary on a path-finding trip, shortly after the war. The party also included ex-Alderman A. E. Todd, Stephen Jones and the late Arthur Lineham, and they went via Washington, Idaho and Fernie, using this route to Calgary for the first time.

He was also a keen footballer, and in later years, when his health precluded more violent forms of sport, became a devotee of golf, being a popular member of the Colwood Golf and Country Club.

A Presbyterian by religion, Mr. Scott and his family were adherents of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church. He was prominent in the Chamber of Commerce, was a member and one-time president of the Pacific Club, and also belonged to the Union Club. He was also a member of St. Andrew's Lodge, A.F. and A.M.

Mr. Scott during the war lost one son, Lieut. Blaney Scott, M.C., who died from gas poisoning shortly after returning from overseas service. He is survived by his widow and seven children: Matthew Henry Scott and Stewart Deane Scott, of Los Angeles; W. Gilling Scott, Victoria; Anna Gertrude, Victoria; Thomas Brainerd Scott, Cowichan Lake; Mrs. Sylvester Paul and Mrs. G. C. Henderson of Vancouver.

The remains are reposing at the B.C. Funeral Chapel, whence the funeral will be held on Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, proceeding to Ross Bay Cemetery, where interment will take place.

Ss. Princess Kathleen takes an excursion to Seattle, Saturday, May 12, leaving at 9 a.m.

FOUR BOYS ARE KILLED AT PLAY

At Akron, Ohio, Drum of Benzine Explodes When Match Lit

Akron, Ohio, April 30.—Becoming tired of a game of marbles they had been playing behind a shed here yesterday, five boys sought other diversion and turned to matches. One was struck and the flames exploded a fifty-gallon drum of benzine, which resulted in the burning to death of four of the boys and serious injury to the other.

Those killed were Frederick Woodly, thirteen; Albert Carter, 10; Leman Carter, five, and Charles Carter, fourteen. The Carters were brothers.

Leslie Bush, the injured boy, is expected to recover. Persons attracted by the explosion found the boys writhing on the ground, their clothing afire. One of the first to arrive was Fred Woodly, father of Frederick. Unaware of his son's identity, he ran for aid. Returning, he learned his son had been burned almost beyond recognition. Identity being established only through a mouth organ found in one of his pockets.

POLICE INQUIRY IN TERMINAL CITY

The following counsel were present: A. H. MacNeill, K.C., commission counsel; G. G. McGeer, K.C., for Commissioner F. W. Fletcher; R. L. Mattland and B. Rowe Holland, for the Vancouver Police Union; G. E. McCrossan for the city council and police commission; W. E. Burns for Chief of Police Long; Alex Henderson, K.C., for Mayor Louis D. Taylor; and T. G. McLellan for several witnesses.

FLETCHER ATTENDS
Mr. Fletcher was seated at the "barriers" table with Mr. McGeer. Mayor Taylor and Alderman J. A. Garbutt, the other members of the police commission, were not present.

Chief Long was accompanied by Frank Amor, police commission secretary, and charge books from police headquarters were brought into the room before the hearing opened.

Almost at the outset of the session, Mr. Lennie in response to a question by Mr. McGeer, declared "I did not believe the resolution of the City Council, requesting an inquiry, included provision for an investigation into the police commission itself."

This question first arose when the various barristers were making their formal appearances.

LIST OF WITNESSES
A. H. MacNeill, K.C., commission counsel, declared Commissioner Fletcher, through his counsel, had provided him with a list of witnesses, who had been subpoenaed and would appear later.

R. L. Mattland outlined the position of the Vancouver Police Union, declaring it wished to assist the inquiry in any manner possible and to aid in bringing out all facts. The inquiry was different from the usual investigation, he said, inasmuch as no one against whom evidence would be produced had any notification or information of the allegations. If any evidence was produced reflecting on any member of the police department, he wished an opportunity to cross-examine.

It was then announced by Mr. McGeer that evidence would be produced against individuals of the police force and the Police Commission.

"The evidence, I may say," he declared, "will be to the effect of an opening speech," interrupted Mr. MacNeill. "Mr. McGeer is here to assist me, and I will bring the evidence before the commission. If I omit anything he may draw my attention to it. He should not outline what evidence is expected. That is my duty."

MUCH EVIDENCE
Mr. McGeer replied that Mr. MacNeill was not in possession of all the evidence to be produced. The former had not the time to give a complete outline of expected testimony, he said.

"Ample time will be afforded to Mr. McGeer to submit his evidence to Mr. MacNeill," said the commissioner. "There is no haste; we have lots of time," he added.

OFFER MADE
Mr. McGeer then made formal application to the commissioner for power to produce evidence, examine and cross-examine witnesses. It was a voluntary offer and Mr. MacNeill might not think such assistance necessary, said Mr. McGeer, but that was the method Mr. Fletcher desired.

In reply, Mr. Lennie declared such a situation could be dealt with if it arose. Mr. MacNeill, he said, was in charge of the inquiry and evidence should be submitted through him.

Alex Henderson, K.C., representing Mayor Louis D. Taylor, then called attention to Mr. McGeer's remark that the inquiry would affect members of the Police Commission. Besides Mr. Fletcher, he said, there were only two other commissioners, one of whom was his client. He then asked Mr. McGeer to give him, as far as Mayor Taylor was concerned, some indication of the charges.

Mr. McGeer replied he would be glad to do this.

CHIEF ON STAND
Chief of Police H. W. Long was then called to the stand. In reply to questions by Mr. MacNeill, he stated he had been chief for four years; that the police staff included 157 officers of all ranks; that the staff was divided into departments or squads including the uniformed men, the detectives, the criminal investigation department, the liquor and morality squads.

Mr. MacNeill then asked him to recite and confirm certain statistics which had been prepared by the chief at his request.

Quoting from the statistics, Chief Long said there were 873 cases of vagrancy in 1926 and 671 convictions. In 1927 there were 2,825 cases and 638 convictions. In 1928 there were 188 gambling house infractions and convictions of inmates were 2,791; in 1927 there were 346 of such infractions and prosecutions of inmates numbered 1,478.

INCREASE IN VAGRANCY
Mr. McGregor asked the witness, through Mr. MacNeill, if he could offer any explanation for the increase of 221 per cent. in vagrancy cases in 1927 as compared with 1926.

The chief said it would depend largely upon the number of men in the city out of work.

Mr. McGeer then asked if he could give any explanation of the increase of thirty-two per cent. in the number of police court cases from 1926 to 1927.

The chief gave no answer, but Mr. MacNeill said he could hardly be expected to know offhand.

IMPERIAL tank ships go all the way to South America for the crude petroleum from which Marvelube is made. Many crude oils are available right at Canada's front door, but none of these possesses the lubricating properties of Peruvian crude. Peruvian crude is so distinctly superior a base for lubricating oil that its exclusive qualities warrant the 8,000 mile trips of IMPERIAL'S huge tank ships.

The resources of Canada's largest refiners of petroleum products make Marvelube possible. In addition to using a better crude for the manufacture of Marvelube, IMPERIAL OIL LIMITED employs improved and exclusive methods of refining. From oil well to crankcase IMPERIAL resources and IMPERIAL equipment combine to produce in Marvelube a distinctly better oil.

LET US HELP OURSELVES

NOW THAT MORE PEOPLE THAN ever before have attended a Home Products Fair in Victoria it should be safe to assume that its lesson has been learned and that in the early future its effect will be felt in the shape of a much greater demand for goods produced in local establishments. No doubt many citizens discovered for the first time just what articles are manufactured in Victoria. It also must have been patent to them that the local product easily can hold its own with the imported commodity.

There is nothing new in the plain statement that the shortest cut to local prosperity is by giving greater patronage to local industry. Much has been said and written about Victoria's need of larger payrolls and how they may be acquired; but we may as well admit that we do not give sufficient thought to the fact that the first obligation rests solely with the consumer. If the citizens of this community would make up their minds to try every Victoria product that is in competition with a similar product which comes in either from other parts of Canada or from foreign countries, and compare the two, it is pretty certain that the verdict in most cases would go in favor of the local product. It might be necessary for a time, of course, to pay a trifle more for the Victoria commodity. We ought to be willing to do that.

ENTERPRISING KAMLOOPS

VISITORS FROM MANY PARTS OF THE Province will be in Kamloops to-morrow to assist the citizens of that community to celebrate the opening of the Plaza Hotel. This is what is known as a community enterprise—the money, of course, was raised among the citizens—representing something like $100,000. It is of five stories and described as the last word in establishments of its kind.

For some years Kamloops has answered to the familiar British Columbia description of a "good town." It was one of the few cities in this Province upon which the slump after the hectic days of 1911 and 1912 made very little impression. It did not escape the economic reaction altogether; but such difficulties as it did encounter in the two years prior to the outbreak of war it surmounted with comparative ease. Its citizens, always progressive and great believers in their own capacity to achieve practically everything upon which they set their minds, are not of the complaining kind. They usually are too busy; perhaps the dry and exhilarating atmosphere in which they live has something to do with their optimism and enterprise. In any case, they are fortunate in their possession of a fine community spirit; the voice of the groucher there is a feeble one.

Kamloops, of course, has grown in importance at a rapid rate during the last few years. It is not too much to say that it is one of the smartest towns in the Interior. Its services are thoroughly up-to-date in every respect—incidentally, its electric light standards are the same as our own and were installed by the same local firm—and its bid for tourists is already has borne much profitable fruit. Its new hotel, of course, will improve its position in this regard. Kamloops has every right to look to the future with a good deal of optimism.

INCREASING BUSINESS

IN THE MONTH OF APRIL LAST YEAR Victoria's bank clearings amounted to $8,935,980. In the month ending at noon to-day they totaled $10,374,213—an increase of $1,440,433.

Increased bank clearings have been the weekly story for the last two years. Another important part of the narrative of local progress has been the number of new homes continually going up. For the most part these are residences of the bungalow type—the homes of wage earners who have enough confidence in the future of their community to get a stake in it. This is the best sort of progress.

Increased banking business here, of course, has kept pace with similar additional activity elsewhere throughout the Province. It is a healthy sign. It is one of the proofs that British Columbia is going ahead.

SHARKS CONVICTED

TWO VANCOUVER MEN RECENTLY were convicted of defrauding the public of something like $100,000. It is said that most of this money came from people who could ill afford to lose it. That is usually the way when some high-powered salesman get in their work. Their promises of big profits seem to dazzle some people into believing almost anything the would-be benefactor suggests. The mistake nearly always is discovered too late.

The desire to get rich quickly seems to overpower many people. The advice of their friends often is regarded as an unwarranted intrusion in affairs which do not concern them. How could they doubt the sincerity of the kind-hearted, silver-tongued salesman who had nothing but their welfare at heart, who was just aching to make a fortune for them? This is not a new outlook. It has been going on for years. Even the "Spanish prisoner" still seems able to make a good living out of the old dodge of his mysterious portmanteau with a still more mysterious pocket lined with a fortune. Easier still apparently is the job of some unscrupulous ones in British Columbia.

A well-known authority on investments of all kinds has said that the proposal which must be closed immediately it is made generally is the one with a "catch" in it. The high-powered salesman nearly always gives himself away as soon as he begins his story. You have not the slightest chance of making the fortune he promises you unless you hand over your hard-earned cash for an attractively-printed receipt on the spot. There must be no delay. The idea of a prospective client asking the advice of a banker or someone qualified to weigh the merits of the proposal usually is met with the shrug which implies faint-heartedness or sheer stupidity. Vanity is wounded and the salesman gets his victim.

There are numerous opportunities for investment in British Columbia. Every community has something to offer which will insure a certain return, even though it may fall short of the profit which the spell-binding salesman has promised. Those are the investments our people should make. They may not yield a great deal; but the first outlay does not disappear.

MR. H. J. SCOTT

IN THE DEATH OF MR. H. J. SCOTT Victoria has lost a sterling citizen who was prominently identified with the business life of the community for many years and whose many amiable qualities won for him a host of friends. He came to Victoria when a youth and early became associated with the Hamilton Powder Company, of which, through the exercise of unusual initiative, energy and judgment, he eventually became manager. His activities in this association carried him all over the Province, particularly in those sections in which there was mining, and few men were more widely known, or better informed on this aspect of British Columbia's development. When the Canadian Explosives acquired the Hamilton Powder Company he became a valued official of that big organization, with which he continued in various capacities until his death. In his early days he was keenly interested in athletics, an interest which never waned and which was inherited by his sons, several of whom played important parts in the sporting life of this city. Endowed with a kindly and considerate nature, fair-minded and straightforward, he had the capacity of making friends in rare measure, and he will be very sorely missed, not only in Victoria but throughout the Province. To his sorrowing family The Times tenders its sympathy in their deep affliction.

NOT SO IN CANADA

SCHELDON IN CANADA DO WE SEE ANY complaint in the newspapers about our telephone services. Victoria seems to be particularly free of serious annoyances in this regard. But the press of Great Britain continually carries evidence that all is far from well with this branch of the Post Office Department's service. For instance, a firm in the famous Kingsway area recently asked its clients through the columns of The Morning Post to take no notice of replies saying "No Reply" to its numbers, "as this is always untrue between 9 a.m. and 6 p.m." Nor will it stand for "Number Engaged," which, it says, "is nearly always untrue, as there are four lines constantly available." The notice concludes with: "Please complain, and go on complaining." The Kingsway area is served by the Holborn Exchange which some time ago began to install an automatic system similar to that in operation in some parts of this country; but the trouble dates back many years and the above communication from a troubled firm indicates that the tale of telephone woe in Britain still is being told.

HARMFUL "FOOLING"
From The Brandon Sun
"April fooling" is getting out-of-date in most places that are advanced, but some few folks like to exercise that form of humor still. Much of it may be harmless and there is little originality left in the dying custom. The candy fraud used to be one of "fooling" that was considered effective and was not harmful. There was felt some satisfaction in cotton-wool filling to chocolate, wooden centres and sometimes pepper within. The majority of these jokes were not so bad but are now considered tame and more risky articles are candied for the fooling. Tin bottle tops are concealed in chocolate and other articles that are likely to injure those who may be fooled into biting into these "April fool" candies. These sort of jokes are being carried too far and should be checked at the source. Children are too confiding in those who enjoy distributing these more harmful candies. Innocent "fooling" should be the rule in old customs.

Spring-time Discoveries

By Robert Connell

Noted Island Naturalist

This is the season when everyone has interest in the flowers. The most prosaic of mortals feels their attraction. Peter Bell, that odd hero of Wordsworth, recognized the "primrose by the river's brink," though only as a yellow primrose and "nothing more." Even though we cannot go so far as knowing the names of the common flowers we are aware of their charm, their beauty, their colors and sweet scent. It might be argued that the manner in which our aesthetic feelings are thus stirred in Spring is atavistic, a relic of the days when our far-off ancestors issued from their winter quarters to hail the return of life and bid farewell to "rough winter spent." If it be so, we are certainly none the worse for so pleasing a survival.

A good many people go far beyond this unconscious enjoyment and actively busy themselves in observing the flowers which follow in quick succession of bloom. This observation is not necessarily scientific, though it is the kind of thing from which science takes its birth, an active curiosity in the visible world of Nature. Just as present it is not difficult to compass this modest end of knowing the flowers, who as the weeks pass the wealth of flowers increases until, I fear, many people begin to suffer a feeling akin to that of the ordinary reader, who, in search of a book finds himself in a great library.

It is due to this active curiosity that occasional finds are made of flowers to which we give the name of "sports," departures from the normal in shape or coloration, and chiefly with regard to the latter characteristic are these discoveries. For example, someone rang me up the other day to report the finding of a pure white lady's slipper, and to ask about its rarity. Personally, I have never seen a really white one, though very pale ones are not infrequent. They are usually due to faulty conditions of light or soil, and are especially noticeable in plants transplanted into unsuitable surroundings. White camass flowers are sometimes met with, and very handsome they are. If they could be multiplied they would make a very desirable addition to our native flora. But their rarity, and the rarity of most of these white "sports," argues rather that they are somehow handicapped in the battle of life, for difficult as it is to realize, the plants whose flowers seem so emblematic of the graceful and gentle things of life have to fight for existence even as other living things.

ALBINISM AMONG PLANTS
Where we find flowers which are white instead of possessing their ordinary colors we have "albinism," a phenomenon well known among animals such as rats, mice, rabbits and occasionally met with among human beings. White crows and white blackbirds seem as perfect examples of albinism as one can well imagine, but they are by no means unknown in the world of birds. In every case of albinism, whether in plants or animals, the immediate cause is an absence of the coloring matter proper to the particular organism. It may vary in degree of deficiency as is seen in white cranes and turkeys, but the cause is always the same. For it is in the absence of pigment, so that none of the rays of the spectrum are absorbed, but all are given to the eye in the same proportions as in ordinary light. The

NEWS AND NOTES OF BOY SCOUTS

The monthly meeting of the committee of the local association will be held at the office of P. R. Leighton at 3 p.m. on Tuesday, May 1.

The patrol leaders' council will meet on Saturday, May 5.

The old wolves' council will be held on May 2 and the ladies' auxiliary meeting on May 3, when final arrangements will be made for the garden party on May 26.

The notes on tree identification started last week are continued this week.

Last week's list of trees included the more common native conifers found locally or nearby. The following trees are of the broad leaf class, most of which shed their leaves in winter, with one or two exceptions:

Garry Oak—The only native oak in this locality. Bark, grey, sharply furrowed; the leaf is known to all. When growing under good conditions and old it is a large tree. When in the woods or under hard conditions, the tree is usually of a scrubby appearance and commonly known as scrub oak, or may grow tall and slender, so that it is necessary to either observe the bark or look high to see the foliage in order to recognize the tree. A characteristic of growth is its "knees" or "elbows" (that is, right angle turns in the branches).

Found at Uplands, Mount Tolmie, Cedar Hill, Colwood.

Broad Leaf Maple—The common maple. Found almost anywhere; old trees have generally got big bumps or "burls" on their trunks and lower trunks; trees growing in the woods are usually tall and slender with their foliage high among the surrounding trees; the leaf grows as much as a foot across, and the incisions are rounded, not pointed as in the other maples; the winged seed is well known. The bark of young trees is similar to several others such as alder and cascara, and may easily be confused with them.

Arbutus—Known chiefly by its red, papery bark; its thick, stiff leaves are four to five inches long; it is evergreen, and the tree is always surrounded with dead leaves which are very brittle and make much noise when walked on; the tree is very easily recognized at a distance by its fine thick, bushy appearance; common all round coast, particularly in Gordon Head and Colwood.

Manzanita—A scrubby tree with similar bark to the arbutus, but with leaves only about two inches long, narrower and leathery; found on almost any mountain above 1,000 feet high. It resembles a bush more than a tree.

Aspen Poplar—A small tree with silvery bark, usually found in lowlands. Recognizable at a distance by the perpetual movement of the leaves. These leaves are almost round, with a small point and are supported by a stem which is flattened. This causes the leaf to be sensitive to the very least breeze and so accounts for their always apparently being in movement. This flattened leaf-shape is the easiest way of identifying the tree. Specimens may be found on the north side of Dallas Road, about 200 yards west of Cook Street.

Black Cottonwood (Poplar)—A large tree, usually inhabiting swamps; the bark is very like oak, being grey and sharply furrowed, in old trees; the trunk is usually long, rising high up and forming a large open crown, making the tree readily recognizable at a distance; the leaf is pear-shaped and from four to eight inches long; the seeds drift about like pieces of cotton-wool and it is from this that it gets the name (with others of the same order) of cottonwood; specimens may be found on the south side of Cook Street, in Beacon Hill Park, between May Street and Dallas Road; it is also common along Gordon Head Road.

Red Alder—This tree also lives in damp places. Grows to good size; the bark is smooth and grey; the trunk is usually free of branches for some height. The leaf is a rich green, very clearly veined, about one inch long, and toothed all around the edge; its best distinguishing feature is its cone; these cones are in little bunches, each cone being about half an inch long. When young they are green and smaller; when mature they are brown and woody; the whole cluster usually falls off complete; found at Thetis Lake.

TRUOP NOTES
Fairfield scouts have been busy at camp lately digging a new Indian well. This is the second effort in this line. The first has been extremely successful, being full of water throughout the whole year. Its only drawback is the fact that it is a considerable distance away. The second shows every sign of being equally efficient, while it is not more than one-third of the distance away.

The camp season has brought to light many new axes and the consequent responsibility which falls on the owner. In view of this the troop has adopted these recommendations:

When carrying an axe, always make it in a sheath or a piece of wood; never with the open blade.

Keep a special log of wood at your camp for your axe, and keep your axe stuck in it.

Never stick your axe in a green tree. (There is a specified locality where poles can be cut, if really necessary.)

Enough sticks, etc. for ordinary purposes can be obtained from the undergrowth without material damage.

Your axe is a tool not a toy. Above all, realize that material damage can be done thoughtlessly in one minute that Nature can repair in ten years.

Third Troop—In future no recruits will be accepted until they are ready to pass the tenderfoot test. Leonard Middleton has been invested and the Court of Honor has accepted Georges Comes and Malcolm Taylor as recruits. Arrangements have been made for a hike on Saturday, May 5.

St. Michael's Troop—The patrol leaders are working hard to bring their patrol up to a good standard for the scoutcraft sports May 1. For the present patrol work has entirely taken the place of troop work. Last week-end patrol hikes were held to Finlay and the Gorge, and there will be others this week.

Oaklands—There will be a display and dance at St. Alban's Hall next Friday.

St. Paul's—The Commissioner and District Scoutmaster were present at the meeting last week. After a brisk run the troop was given a first-aid instruction. Knotting and other games followed and the meeting ended with singing. The meeting was followed by a sitting of the Court of Honor.

On Saturday the troop held a hike to Red Hill.

North Quadra—Games played at the last meeting were a knotting relay, in which a length of rope had to be tied into a ring by means of a stated knot and then passed down the patrol, each scout getting through the ring; a flag relay; "Rabbits, Rabbits and Rats."

The first was won by the Eagles, the second by the Hawks, the third a tie, and the fourth, the Hawks. The patrol competition, at the end of three months of which the losers will provide a bun-feed for the winners, now stands: Hawks, 31; Eagles, 28. The troop will hold a hike to the Gorge to-day.

WOLF CUB NEWS

Collegiate Pack worked very hard at last meeting. M. Hamston, B. Cuthbert, P. Clowse, J. Hannan all opened their first cub eye and are ready to receive their first star. B. Martin received his first star, P. Martin passed his flag test and knots, and F. Costa his flag test toward their first star.

Fairfield Pack—Akela D. Stark and Scout Gaunt instructed the tenderpads in knots, while the second star cub practiced signalling under Scout Hill. Foot. Cub Wilfred Mosher, an old member, has rejoined and become a member of the Tawny Six. Several games were played.

Akela Stark's new telephone number is 7009-R.

Oaklands Pack is working hard on the sports programme. The second star cub practiced signalling with Cub Instructor J. Duncan. The recruits learned their first knot with Cub Instructor A. Sharpe. Archie and James Coult both received their first star.

These two cubs have kept together ever since joining the pack. Andrew Davies received his first service star. A health talk was given by Akela Dun. The pack practiced the Kaa dance and played the monkey-crab-rabbit relay race.

North Quadra Pack spent a very busy meeting on Tuesday. The second star cub practiced signalling with Cub Instructor J. Duncan. The recruits learned their first knot with Cub Instructor A. Sharpe. Archie and James Coult both received their first star.

These two cubs have kept together ever since joining the pack. Andrew Davies received his first service star. A health talk was given by Akela Dun. The pack practiced the Kaa dance and played the monkey-crab-rabbit relay race.

Two new cubs, Lawrence Irving and Norman Miles, of the Brown Six, are working very hard for their first star. Royal Oak Pack—Teddy Stiller has now received his first star and been promoted to second of his six. Akela Sherwood gave the pack a talk on the bowline and instructed first star cubs in signalling, assisted by Scout Walter Scott. Sixty Cliff helped the tenderpads with leapfrog and hopping. Several games were played.

St. Paul's Pack—On Tuesday, the Rev. J. C. Chapman visited the pack and was welcomed with the grand howl. All cubs were asked to pay up their dues and were reminded of the service at the Gorge at 3 p.m. on Sunday, April 29. Later the cubs had their photos taken. The cross-cross ball game was played and an inter-six football passing game. The pack would again like to thank "Middy Mac" for the totem pole which was so much admired by His Excellency Lord Willingdon at Beacon Hill.

Parents' Committee—The committee met on April 24 with W. E. A. Barclay, president, in the chair. Receipts from the home-cooking stall were reported as $27.70, which will swell to nearly $40 when all returns are in. Akela Lable was asked to convey thanks to all parents and friends who so generously helped make the stall such a success and to Harry C. Austin for the notice board he made for sale. Parents of cubs and scouts are again asked to try and attend these meetings.

The next one will be held at Church House on May 22. At the close of the meeting Baloo Higgins and Mrs. Ford served refreshments. The meeting adjourned at 9:30 p.m.

St. Mary's North Pack were very glad to welcome Mrs. C. M. Edwards, who has joined them as baloo, also a new recruit, Ronald Bonnell. Akela gave a very interesting talk on the flag, followed by a flag game, and cubs working for their second star practiced fire-lighting with Cub Instructor Jack Hansen while Cub Instructor J. Gornall took signalling practice.

St. Mary's South Pack practiced the jungle dances, skin the snake and played clear decks. Edward Horne passed his flag test; Gerald Courtney, leap frog; Johnny McLean, book balancing; Ronald Mayell, hopping, somersault and leap frog.

St. Michael's Pack—Bob Tait passed his health test and has now gained his first star. John Mitchell passed knots, book balancing and service towards his first star. Peter Street passed his flag and health and gained his first star. The whole pack played the game of French and English.

Third Pack—At the meeting held on April 23 recruits and tenderpads worked on signalling and ball throwing and catching under Norman Phillips, who was welcomed into the pack as cub instructor. Cubs are reminded that the meeting day is changed to Monday at 6 p.m.

NOTICE TO ALL AKELAS
The Old Walrus Council will meet at Yates Street headquarters on Wednesday, May 2, at 7:30 p.m. Any Akela who is unable to attend is asked to see that her pack is represented either by her ACM or cub instructor.

The Cub's Good Turn—On joining the pack a cub promises to "do a good turn to somebody every day." Cubs have a special dodge for making themselves happy. How do you suppose they do it? By running about and playing games? By going to camp? By lighting fires and cooking their own grub? Yes, they do all this; but they have a still better way. It is very simple—they do it my making other people happy. It does not matter who the person is, friend, stranger, man, woman or child. Though like knights of old they prefer to help a woman or child, and the kindness or good turn need not be a big thing. You can generally get a chance to be polite in your own home and can help mother in lots of little ways; or if away from home you can help an old lady carry her parcel or take a little child safely across the road, or something like that. Sometimes the whole pack can do a good turn, such as loading in wood for a neighbor. But whatever is done the cub must not take any reward for doing it, for if he is paid it is not a good turn.

Marguerite Chapter
Prepare For Dance

Special decorations are being planned for the dance which the Marguerite Chapter, I.O.E., will hold at Hamsterley Lakeside on Wednesday evening, May 1. Mrs. Bruce Hutchison, the Misses Margaret McVittie, Yoder Pemberton and Mary Campbell will have charge of the decorations; the Misses Helen Forman, Helen and Kathleen Colman and Norah McEachern will tend to the catering. A good orchestra has been engaged. Tickets for the affair are going splendidly and it is expected that this first dance of the Summer season will draw a large crowd. Tickets may be obtained from the regent, Mrs. Clifford Adams, or from Miss Dolly Payne at Somner's Art Store.

MEMBER SAANICH PIONEER FAMILY IS PRETTY BRIDE

Miss Evelyn Nimmo Wed Saturday to Walter R. Carmichael

St. Stephen's Church, Mt. Newton Cross Road, was the scene of a pretty wedding on Saturday evening when Rev. J. S. Bastin, united in marriage Evelyn Mackenzie, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. Nimmo, Prosser Road, Saanich, to Walter Rutherford Carmichael, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. R. Carmichael, 3070 Fourth Street, Oak Bay. The church was beautifully decorated for the occasion with a profusion of Spring flowers and greenery.

The bride, who is a great granddaughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Thompson, who were the first white settlers in Saanich, entered the church to the strains of the hymn, "O Perfect Love," and was given in marriage by her father. She was a charming figure in her gown of white tulle and silver lace. A full veil of silk net was caught to the hair in cap fashion with a bandeau of orange blossoms and silver ribbon. Her bouquet was a shower of Ophelia roses, lily of the valley and fern. Miss Leslie White of Victoria, attended as maid of honor, in a gown of blue crepe de Chine, with hat to match.

The two bridesmaids were Miss Helen McKenzie of Duncan, cousin of the bride, and Miss Dora Young of Royal Oak, niece of the groom. They were gowned alike in dainty frocks of champagne silk, floral marquisette, over silk slips and wore picture hats of mauve and pink sweet peas, carnations and fern.

Little Janet Martin of Victoria, wearing a gown of white tulle and silver lace, and carrying a basket of forget-me-nots and roses was a dainty flower-girl. James Nimmo, brother of the bride, attended the groom and the ushers were Mr. C. McKenzie of Duncan and Mr. F. Quick of Royal Oak. Mr. David Christopher, uncle of the groom, sang "All Joy Be Thine" during the signing of the register, Mrs. Bastin presiding at the organ.

A large number of relatives and friends attended the reception at the Temperance Hall, the bridal couple being assisted in receiving by Mrs. Nimmo, attired in a gown of biscuit-colored georgette with hat to match, and Mrs. Carmichael in a gown of black baronette satin and hat en suite.

The main hall was prettily decorated with streamers of mauve and pink and the guests were seated at long tables displaying the many beautiful gifts.

The four-tier wedding cake centred the table from which delicious supper was served in the dining-room and was cut by the bride. Music and dancing entertained the guests during the evening, music being supplied by Mrs. F. Goodwin, Maudie and Jessie Christopher and Mr. L. Collins.

Mr. and Mrs. Carmichael are spending their honeymoon motoring to Uplands point and on the mainland, and upon their return will reside at 2374 Cookman Street, Oak Bay.

For traveling the bride wore a brown crepe back satin dress with wrap to match and close-fitting felt hat of brown and tan.

The "CANARY" MURDER CASE

By S. S. VAN DINE
Author of "The Benson Murder Case"

"I'll have Swacker here to-morrow to take down his statement," Markham went on; "and you'd better put one of your men on the elevator—the regular operator is off Sunday. Also, plant a man in the hall outside, and put another one in Swacker's office."

Vance stretched himself luxuriously and rose.

"Most considerate of the gentleman to call up at this time, don't you know, I had a long drive to see the Monets at Durand-Ruel's this afternoon, and I was afraid I wasn't going to be able to drag myself away from this fascinating case. Now that the spool has been definitely scheduled for to-morrow, I'll indulge my taste for Impressionism. . . . A demain, Markham. Bye, Sergeant."

(Sunday, September 16, 10 a.m.)
A fine drizzle was falling the next morning when we rose, and a chill—the first fore-runner of Winter—was in the air. We had breakfast in the library at half past eight, and at nine o'clock Vance's car—which had been ordered the night before—called for us.

We rode down Fifth Avenue, now almost deserted in its thick blanket of yellow fog, and called for Markham at his apartment in West Twelfth Street. He was waiting for us in front of the house, and stepped quickly into the car with scarcely a word of greeting. From his anxious, preoccupied look I knew that he was depending a good deal on what Skell had to tell him.

We had turned into West Broadway beneath the elevated tracks before any of us spoke. Then Markham voiced a doubt which was plainly an articulation of his troubled ruminations.

"I'm wondering if, after all, this fellow Skell can have any important information to give us. His phone call was very strange. Yet he spoke confidently enough regarding his knowledge. No dramatics, no request for immunity—just a plain, assured statement that he knew who murdered the Odell girl, and had decided to come clean."

"It's certain he himself didn't strangle the lady," pronounced Vance. "My theory, as you know, is that he was hiding in the dress-room when the steady business was being conducted, and all along I've clung lovingly to the idea that he was an acrobat to the entire proceedings."

"The keyhole of that closet door is on a direct line with the end of the davenport where the lady was strangled; and as if a rival was operating at the time of his concealment, it's not unreasonable to assume that he peered forth—oh, what? I questioned him on this point, you remember, and he didn't like it a bit."

"But, in that case—"
"Oh, I know. There are all kinds of erudite objections to my wild theory. Why didn't he give the alarm? Why didn't he tell us about it before? Why this? and why that? . . . I make no claim to omniscience, you know. I didn't even pretend to have a logical explanation. My theory is only sketched in, as it were. But I'm convinced, nevertheless, that the modish Tony who killed his bona robe and looted her apartment."

"But of the three persons who possibly could have got into the Odell apartment that night—namely, Mannix, Cleaver and Lindquist—Skell evidently knows only one—Mannix."

"Yes—to be sure. And Mannix, it would seem, is the only one of the trio who knows Skell. . . . An interesting point."

Heath met us at the Franklin Street entrance to the Criminal Court Building. He, too, was anxious and subdued, and he shook hands with us in a detached manner devoid of his usual heartiness.

"I've got Skittin running the elevator," he said, after the briefest of salutations. "Burke's in the hall upstairs, and Emery is with him, waiting to be let into Swacker's office."

We entered the deserted and almost silent building and rode up to the fourth floor. Markham unlocked his office and we passed in.

"Quillfry, the man who's talking Skell," Heath explained, when we were seated, "is to report by phone to the homicide bureau as soon as the Dude leaves his room."

It was now twenty minutes to ten. Five minutes later Swacker arrived. Taking his stenographic notebook, he stationed himself just inside of the swinging door of Markham's private sanctum, where he could hear all that was said without being seen. Markham lit a cigar, and Heath followed suit.

Vance was already smoking placidly. He was the calmest person in the room, and lay back languorously in one of the great leather chairs as though immune to all cares and vicissitudes. But I could tell by the over-determined way he flicked his ash into the receiver that he, too, was uneasy.

Five or six minutes passed in complete silence. Then the sergeant gave a grunt of annoyance.
"No, sir," he said, as if completing some unspoken thought, "I can't get a slant on this business. The finding of that jewelry, now, all nicely wrapped up . . . and then the Dude offering to squeal. . . . There's no sense to it."

"It's true," I know, Sergeant; but it's not altogether senseless." Vance was gazing lazily at the ceiling. "The chap who confiscated those babies didn't have any use for them. He didn't want them, in fact—they worried him abominably."

"The previous day's developments had shaken the foundation of all his arguments; and he lapsed again into brooding silence."

At ten o'clock he rose impatiently and, going to the hall door, looked out. Returning, he compared his watch with the office clock and began packing restlessly. Markham was attempting to sort some papers on his desk, but presently he pushed them aside with an impatient gesture.

"He ought to be coming along now," he remarked, with an effort at cheerfulness.
"He'll come," growled Heath. "or he'll get a free ride." And he continued his packing.

CHAPTER XI

A few minutes later Heath turned abruptly and went out into the hall. We could hear him calling to Skittin down the elevator shaft, but when he came back into the office his expression told us that as yet there was no news of Skell.

"I'll call up the bureau," he decided, "and see what Quillfry had to report. At least we'll know then when the Dude left his house."

But when the sergeant had been connected with police headquarters he was informed that Quillfry had as yet made no report.

"That's damn funny," he commented, hanging up the receiver.

It was now twenty minutes past ten. Markham was growing restive. The tenacity with which the Canary murder case had resisted all his efforts toward a solution had filled him with discouragement; and he had hoped, almost desperately, that this morning's interview with Skell would clear up the mystery, or at least supply him with information on which definite action could be taken. Now, with Skell late for this all-important appointment, the strain was becoming tense.

He pushed back his chair nervously and, going to the window, gazed out into the dark haze of the rain. When he returned to his desk his face was set.

"I'll give our friend until half past ten," he said grimly. "If he isn't here then, Sergeant, you'd better call up the local station-house and have them send a patrol-wagon for him."

There was another few minutes of silence. Vance lolled in his chair with half-closed eyes, but I noticed that, though he still held his cigarette, he was not smoking. His forehead was puckered by a frown, and he was very quiet. I knew that some unusual problem was occupying him. His lethargy had in it a quality of intensity and concentration.

As I watched him he suddenly sat up straight, his eyes open and alert. He tossed his dead cigarette into the receiver with a jerky movement that attested to some inner excitement.

"Oh, my word!" he exclaimed. "It really can't be, you know! And yet—his face darkened—and yet, by Jove, that's it! . . . What an ass I've been—what an unutterable ass! . . . Oh!"

He sprang to his feet; then stood looking down at the floor like a man dazed, afraid of his own thoughts. "Markham, I don't like it—I don't like it at all." He spoke almost as if he were frightened. "I tell you, there's something terrible going on—something uncanny. The thought of it gives me the flesh creeps. I must be getting old and sentimental," he added, with an effort at lightness; but the look in his eyes belied his tone. "Why didn't I see this thing yesterday? . . . But I let it go on. . . ."

We were all staring at him in amazement. I had never seen him affected in this way before, and the fact that he was habitually so cynical and aloof, so adamant to emotion and impervious to outside influences, gave his words and actions an impelling and impressive quality.

After a moment he shook himself slightly, as if to throw off the pall of horror that had descended upon him, and, stepping to Markham's desk, he leaned over, resting on both hands.

"Don't you see?" he asked. "Skell's not coming. No use to wait—no use of our having come here in the first place. We have to go to him. He's waiting for us. . . . Come! Get your hat."

Markham had risen, and Vance took him firmly by the arm.
"You needn't argue," he persisted. "You'll have to go to him sooner or later. You might as well go now, don't you know—My word! What a situation!"

He had led Markham, astonished and but mildly protesting, into the middle of the room, and he now beckoned to Heath with his free hand.
"You, too, Sergeant. Sorry you had all this trouble. My fault. I should have foreseen this thing. A devilish shame; but my mind was on Monets all yesterday afternoon. . . . You know where Skell lives?"

Heath nodded mechanically. He had fallen under the spell of Vance's strange and dynamic importunities.
"Then don't wait—And, Sergeant, you'd better bring Burke or Skittin along. They won't be needed here—nobody'll be needed here any more to-day."

Heath looked inquiringly to Markham for counsel; his bewilderment had thrown him into a state of mute indecision. Markham nodded his approval of Vance's suggestion, and, without a word, slipped into his rain-coat.

Write Bible Examinations—Twenty girls of intermediate and senior age, belonging to the C.G.I.T. department of the Oak Bay United Sunday School, on Friday last wrote examinations upon their Bible study programme. The papers are sent down annually from the Board of Religious Education of the General Council of the United Church of Canada. This year the curriculum prescribed covered primarily the life and work of Paul. In addition a series of studies from the Gospel of Luke leading to church membership. There were questions also to test the judgment of candidates upon life situations. The papers will be examined in Toronto, meantime the girls anxiously await the results of their effort.

YOUR BABY and MINE

By MARY MEYER ELDER

Mrs. Elder will be glad to answer all questions pertaining to babies and children. A stamped and self-addressed envelope forwarded to this office will bring a personal reply.

CHILDREN SHOULD BE TRAINED TO GOOD HABITS, NOT BROWN

Mrs. H. R. R. Writes:

"Do you think that whipping a child would make him easier to manage? I have a boy not two years old, but sometimes forgets. He has even awakened me in the night. I have a friend who says she would 'tan him good,' when he didn't sleep, but I think he does pretty well. She says I am too lenient. His legs are bowed some. People tell me he will outgrow this. What do you think?"

"Is olive oil good for a mild laxative for a two-month old baby?"

ANSWER:

I feel like saying "Welcome stranger!" for the above questions put you down as a reader who doesn't know me. I never believe in whipping as a corrective of anything. I think it is the one method of training which never accomplished anything. Many children of two are not entirely "dry."

If treated like human beings and taken to the toilet every so often, even if they do not ask, they will become so accustomed to this habit that eventually they will remember and go without asking. It is just a matter of constant habit. The one way of preventing this good habit being formed is to spank a child. He has no idea why he is spanked and may very easily think it is for what he did, and not the method of doing it. He tries valiantly to refrain from doing this thing which makes his mother so angry, with results that anyone can foresee. We must attach satisfaction to going to the stool, and not annoyance, otherwise we get failure instead of success. That is just good "Thorndike" psychology.

Now legs are due to rickets, and I should give the boy sun baths on his bare legs, correct his diet and give cod liver oil and not trust to his outgrowing this.

In cases where the child is not getting enough fat in his diet the addition of olive oil might be helpful for constipation, or sweet cream in teaspoonful amounts would act the same way. The baby is old enough for orange juice now, and that is such an excellent laxative as well as necessary to his diet. I would use that instead.

Varsity to Meet Windsor College for Hoop Title

Western Champs Will Play Eastern Titleholders in Windsor May 7 and 9

Vancouver, April 30.—University of British Columbia senior basketball team, Western Canadian champions, are slated to hook up with Windsor College Alumni, champions of the East, in the Canadian basketball final May 7 and 9 in Windsor, Ontario. The series will consist of two games, total points on the round to decide the Canadian champions for the coming year.

Elgin Cummings, manager of the Varsity squad, received a wire from the Windsor team Saturday stating that the dates had been set, and giving their financial terms for staging the series.

The easterners have offered train fares and hotel bills to the University team.

WANT MORE MONEY
This is not enough to take the B.C. team east, however. There are countless small details that come up in a trip like this that call for plenty of money. Meals on the train alone, when a squad of nine husky athletes is being taken across the continent, soon add up to a real sum. Accordingly Cummings wired the easterners Sunday that the dates were acceptable to Varsity, but that they would require a guarantee of $2,500 to take them to the East. The University team will hold out for this. It is expected that the team will leave for the East Tuesday or Wednesday.

Varsity gained the Dominion playoffs by a spectacular march across the prairies. The boys started at Regina, taking the Queen City squad into camp easily, winning the first game of a two-game series 63-30, and the second 40-32.

ESQUIMALT ARE AGAIN WINNERS OF JACKSON CUP

Five C's Beaten in Finals By Single Goal Off Head of John Watt

Boyd Plays Great Game; Bridges Makes Fine Saves in Second Half

Once again the Jackson Cup, emblematic of the City soccer championship, goes into the possession of Sam Watt and his Esquimalt Dockers. The boys from the naval town bagged the trophy in an encounter at the Royal Athletic Park on Saturday afternoon against the Five C's, last year's junior champions. The score was one to nothing.

The only goal of the game came off the blonde that of John Watt, scoring ace of the Dockers. In the first half Tuckwell, one of the Five C's fullbacks, committed a foul almost on the penalty line. Dave Stewart took the kick and drove the ball right in the goal mouth. Watt nodded the ball into the net for the only goal of the game.

A POOR GAME

The game was witnessed by a large crowd but produced very little good football. Esquimalt were weaker than usual owing to the absence of Spiers and Warren, while the Five C's lacked direction at the centre of their attack. In the second half they seemed to lack condition and laid back on the defense when they should have been driving ahead.

The Five C's had a strong following and the veterans tried hard to steady the youngsters on the forward line, but the sterling play of Boyd, at centre half for Esquimalt, wrecked most of movement and the Five C's were left with a narrow margin. Boyd played one of the finest games at centre half seen here for a long time. He covered a great amount of ground and his kicking was excellent. Even in the second half when kicking against the wind he placed every kick.

A GREAT CHANCE

The Five C's had a glorious opportunity to tie up the game in the second half when, aided by the wind, they had quite an edge in territorial play. Shanks picked a beautiful corner from the left and the ball almost grazed under the bar. Bridges, the Esquimalt goalie, fisted it out, but Sutton whistled in the rebound and Bridges just got to the ball to give another corner. Sutton took the kick from the right flag this time and in a whirlwind scramble Bridges was forced to concede a third corner, which Shanks again dropped in the goal mouth. The ball was let out to Harwood, uncovered in front, who drove hard but carried over the bar.

Following this Esquimalt made one of their few breakaways and John Watt missed a chance while a few minutes later Dean, at outside right, grazed the post with the net wide open. Davis hung round in an effort to break up the play.

Before the end of the game the Five C's were dangerous twice. Hood and Quinston both tested Bridges, one of the leading lights at Macaulay, by 1 up.

The results were as follows:
CHAMPIONSHIP FLIGHT
J. Burns defeated G. R. Florence, 2 and 1.

FIRST FLIGHT
F. Slydell defeated C. Christopher, 5 and 4.

SECOND FLIGHT
N. Wallace defeated W. S. Morris, nineteenth hole.

Montgomery, Slydell, Wallace and Wills in Running For Macaulay Title

Close Matches Witnessed in First Two Rounds; Youth Faces Experience

Two youngsters and a pair of veterans remain in the running for the championship of the Macaulay Point Golf Club. After two rounds had been played yesterday, J. A. Montgomery, the defending champion, and Frank Slydell, two of the older members of the club, found themselves pitted against Norman Wallace and Willard Wills, two promising youngsters.

The semi-finals will be another phase of the argument as to whether youth must be served or whether experience will be too big a handicap for the boys to overcome.

Some great matches were witnessed in yesterday's rounds. Slydell won his morning game from Clarence Christophers by a comfortable margin, but he only took his afternoon match from J. Burns, who tied for first place in the medal round, on the eighteenth green.

EXTRA HOLE NEEDED
Wallace had to go to the nineteenth hole in the morning, as he was out of the hole in the afternoon he walked right through Dave Fyfe.

Montgomery won both his matches by 3 and 2, defeating Tom Brown in the morning and W. D. Freeman in the afternoon.

FOUR BOXING TITLES COME TO VICTORIA

Pastro, Shouldice, Leask and Sutton Captured Island Championships

Callum Loses to Warner on a Foul; Petrie and Spruston Win Their Fights

Four of the Vancouver Island boxing titles came to Victoria in the finals staged at the Tillicum Athletic Club on Saturday night. Of the remaining three, one went to Nanaimo, one to Ladysmith and one to Ganges Harbor. The bouts were witnessed by a packed house.

All of the fights were keenly contested and the Victoria lads had quite a job in holding their own with the boys from Up-island and other points. The best fight of the evening, as far as action was concerned, was seen when Danny Pastro met Dickie White of Nanaimo, for the featherweight crown. Pastro took the decision but only after a close fight. White proved a hard fighter and was willing to mix it at all times.

In the first round Pastro had the advantage, landing a number of hard body blows that hurt the Up-islander. However, in the second round, the Nanaimo boy held his own. In the final round both lads stood toe to toe and exchanged punches but the breaks were about even.

CALLUM DISQUALIFIED
Joe Callum, who was picked by many to carry off the middleweight title, in his bout with J. Warner, of Ganges Harbor, had the misfortune to be disqualified by the referee on a foul.

During a fast exchange in the opening round Callum landed a hard blow to Warner's midriff and the latter, in his effort to get back, landed a blow on Callum's corner. The referee inspected Warner and then awarded him the fight on the grounds that the blow was low.

Another good fight was seen between Art Spruston, of Ladysmith, and Harold Bailey, of Victoria, for the junior middleweight title, with the Up-islander prevailing. Both boys presented a two-fisted attack and as a result plenty of action was witnessed. Spruston was the more clever and landed the heavy blows, although Bailey hurt the Up-islander several times with his short lads.

PETRIE TAKES TITLE
The bantamweight crown will rest on the head of Petrie, of Nanaimo, for the next twelve months, as a result of his obtaining the decision over Len Woodley, of Victoria. Woodley fought hard but he was up against a smart boxer and as a result landed very few hard blows. Petrie stayed away from his opponent and drove home straight lefts when the openings presented themselves.

Wilfred Shouldice, of Victoria, won the flyweight title, after fighting an extra round with Hector Colombo, of Nanaimo. These boys were very evenly matched and in the scheduled three rounds were very even on the breaks. In the extra period Shouldice forced the fight to his opponent and grabbed the decision on his aggressiveness.

Clarence Leask, of Victoria, fighting in the junior class, won the decision over Jackie Patterson, of Nanaimo. These two youngsters proved very clever and were given plenty of applause by the fans for their three round bout.

After fighting an extra round Herbert Sutton was given the decision over Sidney Brown. Both these boys are from Victoria.

In a special bout Walter Spaven was given the call over Gerald Sharpe. Ed. Olman, the local heavyweight, took the decision from Tim Gurney, of Ganges Harbor, in a special three-round bout. Olman was the aggressor and landed a number of telling blows but was unable to knock out his opponent.

The McGee brothers staged a three-round exhibition bout that was enjoyed by the fans.

"LEGION OF CONDEMNED" IS DOMINION SCREEN FEATURE OF DAREDEVIL WAR FLYING

Paramount's Sequel to "Wings" Is Forceful Story of Life in French Escadrille at the Front

"The ideal lovers of the screen!"
Such was the exclamation of Director William Wellman, during the filming of the "Legion of the Condemned," Paramount's sequel to the air picture,
"Wings." The picture will show at the Dominion Theatre this week, beginning to-day.

Director Wellman was referring to Fay Wray and Gary Cooper, who have the leads in the picture. Both are comparatively new to screen audiences, as only in the past year have they reached the top rung of the ladder.
Miss Wray is a medium blonde with deep blue eyes, and of medium height.
Cooper is strikingly handsome, and a perfect masculine physical type. He was reared on the open ranges of Montana. Miss Wray is also a Westerner, having been born in Canada, and living in the greater part of her life in Arizona, Utah and California.

Cooper, enacting the role of a Washington newspaper reporter, is assigned to "cover" the embassy ball by his paper. He takes Miss Wray, with whom he is deeply in love. After declaring his love during a dance intermission, she accepts him and it is then that some very romantic love scenes follow, with the moon hovering over the Potomac
as a background.

The world loves romance, and the "Legion of the Condemned" is chock
full of it.
During this time the World War is at a fever pitch. There is a flying organization known as the "Legion of the Condemned" attached to the French, made up of men who owe society a debt, and their only method of retribution is finding death. Therefore their exploits at the front had been heralded.

Cooper discovers his new found love is unfaithful, and in a moment of despair, chucks his job as a reporter and joins up with the Legion.
He becomes a dare-devil aviator, and wins decorations. Many exciting scenes follow of air battles, actually filmed thousands of feet above the ground.
These scenes, until now impossible to properly set on the screen, are remarkable.

His love enters his life again in a most unusual way. Explanations and understanding follow. There is love again! Something to live for!
Daring death together, they come through, but only after many exciting narrow escapes. These situations bring about a more complete mutual understanding of each other, in which their love is manifest.

There is little doubt in the mind of Paramount that the team of Fay Wray and Gary Cooper will be proclaimed by fans wherever the motion picture is shown as being the ideal loving pair.
They come from a romantic setting, and it is only natural to assume their work will be interpreted to perfection on the screen.

A McGillivray, the Caruso of the air,
will sing at the Dominion all this week.
This singer has a magnificent tenor voice and sings in a manner that has made him an emphatic hit all over the Western theatre circuit. He has just concluded an engagement at the Capitol Theatre, Winnipeg, of six straight weeks, and has received an extended engagement in all the theatres in which he has appeared.

On Monday night the Crystal Garden Orchestra will give another of their popular concerts and will be heard in two new numbers, "Oriental Fantasy" and the new fox trot sensation, "Together." As a request number they will also play the Mikado selection.

Playhouse Film After Story By Kathleen Norris

"Rose of the World" Opens Today With Strong Cast

If you are one of Kathleen Norris's enthusiastic readers, and enjoy the worth-while of productions of Warner Bros., and you want your players to act like real people, then the one picture you will not want to miss is "Rose of the World," which opened to-day at the Playhouse Theatre. The story deals with the vow of Rose Kirby (Patay Ruth Miller) to be revenged when Jack Talbot (Alan Forrest) jilts her to marry Edith Rodgers (Pauline Garon). She herself marries Clyde Bainbridge (Rockliffe Fellowes), but finds her own desire for revenge weakening before the almost insane obsession of her husband to wreck the Talbots. Through a series of engrossing incidents to a dramatic climax, "Rose of the World" moves with intense rapidity when the girl finds that her love is stronger than her desire for revenge.

The remainder of the cast includes
Barbara Luddy, Helen Dunbar, Alec
Francis, Lydia Knott, Edward Piel Jr. and Carrie Clark Ward. Dorothy Far-num adapted the novel to the screen and Julien Josephson wrote the scenario. The photography, strikingly beautiful throughout the entire production, is credited to David Abel.

"The Ice Flood" Is Variety Hit Opening To-day

Kenneth Harlan Plays the Lead
With Viola Dana

One of Hollywood's home owners is Kenneth Harlan, prominent leading man, who plays the featured masculine role in "The Ice Flood," the Universal-Jewel production which is at the Variety Theatre to-day.

Harlan, who was married about a year ago to the popular actress, Marie Prevost, has built one of the most beautiful homes in the film colony in Beverly Hills, the most exclusive residential districts of Hollywood.

Giving Mrs. Harlan charge of the furnishing and decoration of the house, Harlan spends all his spare time in supervising the care of the garden and grounds.

He designed the planting of the flower gardens, and did himself all of the cement and brick work about the grounds, the most difficult part of which was constructing a concrete pool and fountain.

He shares his love for this sort of work with Reginald Denny, who spent months in building strange little nooks and crannies in his Hollywood home, and is now planning more extensive work of the same nature on the new home he is building in Beverly Hills.

"The Ice Flood" was directed by George B. Seitz, from the adaptation

Lon Chaney Plays Lead in "Mockery" At Columbia Now

Ricardo Cortez and Strong Cast
Portray Powerful Story

One of Lon Chaney's strangest disguises adorns him in "Mockery," his new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer vehicle, now playing at the Columbia Theatre.
Chaney plays a strange, half-animal Russian peasant in the new picture, a graphic romance of the Russian Revolution directed by Benjamin Christensen, the noted Danish director of "The Devil's Circus," in which Norma Shearer was starred.

Ricardo Cortez has a featured role in the new Chaney picture, and heads a cast that includes Barbara Bedford, Charles Puffy, Mack Swain, Emily Fitzroy and Kai Schmidt. These players have been directed by Christensen with such uncanny skill that they seem to be living their roles rather than acting them. The film abounds in tense situations and has been produced on

GIRLS OUT FOR BEAUTY TITLES

Who is Victoria's most beautiful girl for 1928?
This is what comes up for decision at the Dominion Theatre during the week commencing a week from Monday.

Already the entries are coming in from Victoria's most fascinating and shapely young women, who will compete for the beauty title of "Miss Victoria."

Whoever is chosen as "Miss Victoria" will be sent away by the Famous Players-Paramount Corporation to compete for the title of "Miss Canada."
Last year "Miss Victoria" won the "Miss Canada" title.

"Miss Canada" will be sent to the International Beauty Pageant at Galveston, where the most beautiful girls from all over the world will compete for the grand championship.

Valuable prizes will be awarded "Miss Canada" title or not, will be given a contract to go on show at a number of theatres.

William Heughan Makes Final Bow Of Canadian Tour

Old World Melodies Prove Strong Attraction On Tour
of West

There must be many who were unable to hear William Heughan, famous actor-singer, on the occasion of his last visit, who will welcome the opportunity now afforded in the retreats to be given in the Royal Victoria Theatre to-night and on Tuesday night. These will be his last appearances in Canada prior to his departure for Australia and New Zealand, where he is booked for extensive tours.

It is seldom that any artist, and even more so a British artist, meets with the universal acclaim that has been accorded Heughan throughout the cities of the world, giving him an international reputation such as only the greatest have achieved. London,
New York, Chicago, Montreal, Toronto,
Sydney, Melbourne—they have all acclaimed him. Not in his voice alone lies his greatness. He is actor, singer and story-teller all in one. He has made a fusion of the arts, dramatic, lyric and humorous, and brings to the concert platform much of the realism of the contemporary stage.

Writing of one of his several appearances in Detroit, The Times said:
"Detroit music-lovers listened to the superb voice of Heughan, marvelling while at his mimetic and dramatic powers. For Heughan is rightly termed one of the world's few geniuses of song. He possesses that rare and remarkable gift of illusion and mastery of song delivery that adds perfection to an otherwise perfect voice. His songs range through all the moods of comedy, romance and tragedy, and in them all he seemed equally at home."

With him as assisting artists are Maud Bell, the distinguished English
'cellist, an artist who has scored successes in London, Paris, Berlin, Copenhagen and other cities throughout Europe, and by Gladys Sayer, the well-known pianist and accompanist, who has shared in honors gained by Heughan throughout the world.

The party leave by the R.M.S.
Aorangi on Wednesday for Australasia and will not visit Canada again until 1930.

MISSIONARIES TO LEAVE SHANTUNG

Message Received in Shanghai Tells of Murder of Leader By Chinese

Shanghai, April 30.—A message received here to-day from a Presbyterian missionary in the southern part of Shantung province said Dr. Walter F. Seymour, superintendent of the Presbyterian Hospital at Taining, had been slain by soldiers of the Chinese Nationalist forces of General Feng-Yu-hsiang when he tried to prevent them from entering the girls' dormitory. The message, which was dated April 22, said the soldiers surrounded Taining April 16. A group started to enter the dormitory of the mission and Dr. Seymour attempted to prevent them. The soldiers cut short the parley by killing him.

The missionary who sent the message asked that his location and name be withheld, due to the "peculiar situation of all the missionaries in the area." He did not want to aggravate the soldiers by seeming to act as an informer.

PREPARE TO LEAVE

He stated there were six missionaries in Taining, three in Ichow, and five in Tientsin, all awaiting an opportunity to evacuate.

Edwin S. Cunningham, United States consul-general, is seeking to determine the identity of the slayer in accordance with his instructions from Washington. He plans to send an investigator to Shantung, but is awaiting developments in the military situation, unable to enter the territory now.

GOOD TEETH DON'T JUST "RUN IN THE FAMILY"

YOU have to exercise your body to have sturdy muscles. You have to exercise your mental capacities to have a quick, clear mind. You have to exercise through chewing, to have good teeth!

Too many modern foods cheat you of this important function. They come to you soft, mushy—to be swallowed almost with one gulp.

And digestion, also, suffers from foods of this kind. For thorough mastication of your foods is needed to stimulate the digestive juices of the stomach.

The delicious food, Grape-Nuts, in addition to supplying five of the essential nutritive elements the body needs, was designed as an aid to good teeth. It is crisp—delightfully crisp! You like to chew the crunchy golden kernels of Grape-Nuts. You like to give your teeth and gums the precious exercise that means so much to their life and beauty.

Eat Grape-Nuts beginning to-morrow. Four teaspoonfuls, costing less than one cent, is a serving. Ready to eat from the wax-wrapped package, with milk or cream. Sold by all grocers.

GRAPE-NUTS PROTECTS AGAINST MALNUTRITION

Authorities tell us that practically one out of three people in this country suffer from malnutrition. Grape-Nuts for breakfast every morning can guard you against malnutrition. It supplies vitamins, maltose and other carbohydrates for energy; protein for muscle and body-building; phosphorus for teeth and bones; iron for the blood and the important Vitamin-B.

SEND FOR TWO TRIAL PACKAGES

If you would like to try Grape-Nuts, free, accept the offer below, which includes a booklet of healthful breakfast menus, prepared by a former college physical director.

CANADIAN POSTUM CO., LIMITED,
METROPOLITAN BUILDING, TORONTO 1, ONT.

Please send me, free, two trial packages of Grape-Nuts, together with "A Book of Better Breakfasts".

ALASKAN GOLD RUSH GIVES THEME FOR MILTON SILLS FOR "BURNING DAYLIGHT"

Story Is Based on Jack London's Story of the Same Name, and Comprises Swift Action in Romantic Settings of Far North

The Alaskan gold rush—declared by many to be the most dramatic and picturesque period in the last fifty years—provides the engrossing setting for "Burning Daylight," the first National picture, starring Milton Sills, which opens its local engagement at the Capitol Theatre, beginning to-day. Based on Jack London's novel of the same name, "Burning Daylight" is crammed with drama and action, with the endless, epic picture of the gold rush in the background. An unusually large cast, headed by Doris Kenyon in the feminine lead, supports Sills.

The stage attractions at the Capitol Theatre for this week include several fine vaudeville turns, notably the Deacon Jones Negro Quartette, singing songs you will surely enjoy; Katherine Scott, the comedienne with a piano, is another decided hit on this fine bill. Harold Bechtel, the singing master of ceremonies, will be heard singing "It's Boloney," an uproarious comic song ditty, and the Capitol Orchestra specialties will be an overture, "Fantastic Oriental," and "Together." The stage attraction will appear twice daily.

POSSES HUNT FOR HERMIT ROBBER

Long-haired Marauder in Ontario Lives in Caves, State Police

Chatham, Ont., April 30.—From his lair in Skunk's Misery, 1,000-acre tract of wild bush land situated on the border of Kent and Elgin Counties, a long-haired marauder has been preying the surrounding district during the last six months. Whenever his lair needed replenishing he looted a country store. Scores of stores and dwellings in the locality have been robbed by the outlaw.

For the last two days, Constable George Peters and the county force have combed the area for the marauder, without success. They succeeded in finding one cleverly-concealed cave and it is claimed the man has several similar lairs.

POSSES ORGANIZED

To-day county police were asked to authorize the organization of the largest man-hunt ever conducted in Kent County. Armed posses will scour the whole swamp and it is hoped to round up the outlaw.

"It is the only way we will ever get him," Chief Peters stated last night on his return from a fruitless search. He reported that in the cave found yesterday were supplies of canned fruit, vegetables, cheese, jam, marmalade and many other articles which have been identified as stolen from different stores and homes.

QUAKE VICTIMS AIDED

Rome, April 30.—Premier Mussolini has ordered a subsidy of 1,000,000 lira (about $52,600) for rescue work in Bulgaria, following the earthquakes, and an equal sum for Greece.

St. Prineas Kathleen takes an excursion to Seattle, Saturday, May 12, leaving at 9 a.m.

FIRE THREATENS ONTARIO VILLAGE

Loss Is Estimated at $10,000; Fire-fighter Hurt

Kington, Ont., April 30.—Damage of between $10,000 and $15,000 was done in a Sunday morning fire in the village of Yarker, thirty miles northwest of Kington, and twenty miles north of Napanee, when the Garrison box factory was destroyed, as well as the office building next to it.

Some damage was done to a residence owned by J. Freeman while the power-house also caught fire and but for the presence of members of the Kington and Napanee fire departments, damage of great proportions might have been done.

Brook Leonard, son of the station agent, was seriously injured when a part of the wall of the old factory fell on him. He is now in the Kington General Hospital.

The cause of the fire has not been ascertained. The alarm was given by the crew of a passing freight train.

TWO KILLED IN AUTO ACCIDENTS

Winnipeg, April 30.—Two separate automobile accidents in Winnipeg claimed the lives of an eighteen-year-old girl and a three-year-old boy, two others were injured in one of these mishaps, while another person was hurt in a collision between a truck and a motor car during the week-end. Returning from a party, Miss Maudie Infield was instantly killed when the car she was riding in catapulted into a ditch after it had somersaulted some distance. Three of her companions escaped injury. Walter Anderson, three years old, only son of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Anderson, was fatally injured when he was struck by a backing automobile near his home. He died in hospital shortly afterwards. George Berger, twenty-two, was seriously injured when the automobile he was driving collided with a heavy motor truck. The crocodile, given fair play in its native wilds, can live for 300 years.

INDIANS UP ON LIQUOR CHARGE

Peter and Epinee Pierre, Found Asleep on Malahat, in Badly Wrecked Car

Charged with driving a car while under the influence of liquor Peter Pierre and Epinee Pierre, two Indians from the Koksilah reservation, were arraigned in the Provincial Police Court this morning and were remanded until to-morrow morning.

The accused were taken into custody on Saturday night by Sgt. Robert Owens, of the Provincial Police, about seventeen miles from Victoria on the Malahat. When arrested the two men were found asleep in the front seat of the car, which was parked on the side of the road.

The car was badly wrecked, the plate glass windows and windshield being shattered. One wheel was torn off, while the fenders and radiator were also badly bent.

The police found a bottle of loganberry wine in the car.

The two Indians had apparently left in the car in the morning en route to their homes on the reservation.

First word of the accident was received in Victoria when a woman motorist telephoned to the police that she had seen the men asleep in the automobile.

Plans for extensive scientific experiments to determine the quality of the soil in the Sumas reclamation area and its special uses were announced at the Department of Agriculture after an understanding with Federal Government experts had been reached.

Twenty acres is being set aside in the former bottom of Sumas Lake for the production of clover, alfalfa, peas and potatoes of many kinds and under varying conditions. Numerous fertilizers will be used to find out which is best suited to the area.

As a result of these experiments on a large scale, the Department of Agriculture hopes to produce a series of bulletins for the use of British Columbia farmers. Peas produced by the University of Alberta are being imported for this purpose. They are of a specially high quality, and will be used as the basis for the introduction of this pea into the Province.

The scheme will benefit agriculture in connection with the water supply of the province by helping to build up a supply of the choicest seed for the use of British Columbia farmers. Peas produced by the University of Alberta are being imported for this purpose. They are of a specially high quality, and will be used as the basis for the introduction of this pea into the Province.

JACKSON GETS FISHING CROWN

Brentwood, April 30.—O. J. Jackson, 139 Cook Street, was the nighty Isaac Watson of the last week-end out here.

Alone in a boat and trolling with a rod, he yesterday set the pace for Spring catches. Henry Dalby of Victoria, also alone in a boat not far off, saw Mr. Jackson suddenly jump to his rod. From the way it was acting, Mr. Jackson said afterwards, he had a suspicion there was a real fish on the other end of the line. But he had no idea it was as big as it was until he finally got it into the boat. It turned out to be a twenty-seven-pound spring.

The news spread rapidly through the community. Mr. Dalby said that Mr. Jackson displayed uncommon skill in handling the big fellow.

Besides the twenty-seven-pounder, Mr. Jackson also landed seven other springs averaging five and six pounds each, giving him the largest individual catch and the angling crown for the week.

There will be some great fishing here next week-end as some of the regular and expert fishermen have already made their plans to go out with Mr. Jackson's record and take the championship title away from him.

MUSSOLINI'S RULE SUBJECT OF TALK

Some interesting impressions of Italy under Mussolini's rule, as it appears to a visitor, were given by Miss Falconer in a note and night saying during a luncheon to-day at the Victoria Hotel.

Miss Falconer disclaimed any attempt at political analysis of the situation, but she said that the general impression she gained was that Mussolini's rule was beneficial, although tyrannical. She noted a marked improvement in the standard of living, the running of the trains to time, the absence of the beggars which once were such a sordid feature of Italian life, much greater efficiency in public utilities, since her former visit to Italy.

When in Rome, she and her companions were struck by the fact that it would be surprising, as this constituted a serious defect, that there was no serious offence. The result was that there was no serious offence.

Miss Falconer was warmly thanked for her interesting note by Miss Marie MacLaughlin sang with much charm two songs, with Miss Clarice Gray at the piano.

Announcement was made of the next annual business meeting of the club at the Y.W.C.A. on Monday evening, May 14.

fact that this country is eager to do business with the Motherland and, in consequence, they are becoming more active in sending out trade representatives.

"Business houses have come to realize," he said, "that their representatives can make the trip to this country as conveniently as a trip to the continent and possibly more profitably."

GOOD MARKET FOR HOPS IN STATES

Major W. Lewis Rose Declared Higher Prices Prevail Since Prohibition

Comes Here to Settle After Sixteen Years at Independence, Ore.

"There is a better market for hops in the United States to-day than in pre-prohibition days," said Major W. Lewis Rose, retired British army officer and hop grower of Independence, Ore., at the Empress Hotel to-day.

Major Rose, who has been raising hops in Oregon for the last sixteen years, has retired from active production on account of his health, and will in future make his home in Victoria. He is accompanied by Mrs. Rose, both having moved here from Independence.

Major Rose has controlled an 800-acre farm near Independence, 500 acres of which is productive of hops. The Chicago brewing interests, he says, can take all the hops that are grown in the states of Oregon and Washington, and the prices are higher than they were before the Volstead Act became effective.

The same applies to the California grape growing industry," said Major Rose. "The California growers thought that prohibition would ruin them, but it has since made money."

Major Rose is a native of Berkshire, Eng., and was formerly in the Imperial Yeomanry. He farmed 320 acres near Edmonton before migrating to Oregon. "I have been here many times, and Victoria appeals to me," he said in explaining his desire to settle in the city permanently.

WAY CLEARED FOR BIG ARBITRATION

Company Agrees to Grand Forks Proceeding; Vital to Municipalities

The way was cleared here for the commencement of a power rate arbitration between Grand Forks city and the West Kootenay Power and Light Company, a matter of vital concern to the municipalities of British Columbia, when the company withdrew objections to this procedure.

A short time ago the company asked for permission to withdraw from the proposed arbitration before the proposed Water Board, but the board has been informed now that the arbitration will proceed. The tolls which the company proposes to charge Grand Forks and surrounding districts for electrical energy thus remain before the board of adjudication.

The arbitration will be important as the first ever held by the Water Board in connection with electrical power, and as establishing the board's right to fix power rates in municipalities.

CAIRO GOVERNMENT CALLED ON TO ABANDON NEW PUBLIC ASSEMBLIES BILL

although in official circles in London it was thought the difficulties were not insurmountable and the sky might clear suddenly.

It was stated the British Government did not mention sanctions in its note to Egypt as a penalty for Egypt's refusal to comply, but in well-informed circles the opinion was expressed that sanctions would be applied if the Egyptians should be obdurate.

It remained to be seen whether the sending of warships from Malta could be taken as a warning of such sanctions.

WARSHIPS SENT
London, April 30.—The Admiralty announced to-day that the battleships Warspite and Valiant and the cruisers Ceres, Calypso and Caledon had left Malta to-day for an unknown destination under command of Vice-Admiral J. D. Kelly.

THREE-DAY LIMIT
Cairo, Egypt, April 30.—It was stated in Egyptian circles to-day that Great Britain had given the Egyptian Government three days to withdraw the Public Assemblies Bill, which was to come before the Egyptian Senate. Reginald Hoare, Counselor of the British Legation, handed Premier Nubia Pasha a note last night saying that whatever steps it might deem necessary as regarded its obligation to protect foreign interests.

The British Government on Sunday sent a note to the Egyptian Government, the contents of which were described in the Egyptian press as the ultimatum demanding withdrawal of the Assemblies Bill. The British Government had previously protested against this bill, objecting to two provisions. These were one forbidding the police to take any steps against disorder in public assemblies except at the request of the organizers of the meeting, or in the event that grave disorders actually occurred, and another prescribing heavy fines for policemen violating the foregoing provision.

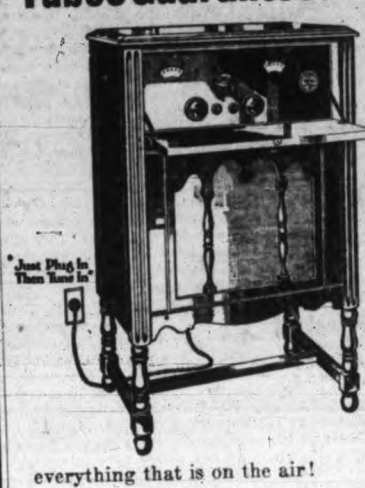

AFTER-THOUGHT REJECTED
The Public Assemblies Bill was passed by the Egyptian Chamber after Egypt had rejected the proposed Anglo-Egyptian treaty. The British Government immediately sent a firm note of protest saying the bill endangered foreign interests and challenged the British declaration of 1922 by which, among other things, Great Britain reserved the right to protect foreign residents of Egypt.

How a demand for the withdrawal of the bill would be met by Egypt was uncertain, but it was believed the Egyptian Government would try to gain time by postponing discussion of the bill, which was scheduled to come before the Senate to-day. It was thought likely an education bill would be placed on the Senate's programme.

PREMIER'S VIEW
Nubia Pasha, Egyptian Premier, has spoken in defence of the bill, maintaining the British fear that it would endanger foreigners was illusory.

NORTHERN FUR FARMER MOVES TO VICTORIA

A recent addition to the growing list of fox breeders on Vancouver Island is H. Lott of the Cariboo district in Northern British Columbia, who recently moved his foxes to the Highland district of southern Vancouver Island. Besides raising foxes, Mr. Lott will in future devote some time to the raising of rabbits and goats. He believes that the climatic conditions in the Highland district are ideal for the business in which he is engaged.

TO-DAY'S GRAIN MARKETS

Branson, Brown & Co. Ltd.

Winnipeg, April 30.—Wheat—Further big gains were made in wheat today with a new set of high marks registered. The strength, however, was all in Chicago, where prices scored an advance of over 4c. Chicago interests were very heavy buyers of October, this being the chief feature of the Winnipeg market to-day. There was a little buying of May and July wheat by seaboard houses, but the volume was quite small.

Export business over the week end was stated to be very light and there was no evidence of such business locally in either futures or cash, the latter market being quiet, but all spreads were practically unchanged. The local crowd are not nearly so busy as they were, many believing that prices are now too high, especially October wheat, and there is good selling on the upturn. Liverpool was indifferent, closing 1/2c higher, but not fully following the advance on this side Saturday. In the late trade there was lot of profit-taking and prices declined over 1c from the earlier high marks.

Crop news was of about the same character as recently, but a very favorable report was received of Kansas conditions. Private reports on U.S. conditions are due to-morrow, and these are expected to be very bullish, showing a very heavy abandonment with an indicated yield of around 40,000,000 bushels, as against the final outcome last year of 35,000,000 bushels. Much now depends on the United States Spring wheat crop, but that country is not likely to have wheat for export.

The weather is still dry in the south. There were some scattered rains in Manitoba on Sunday, but the weather in Western Canada is generally favorable and seeding of grain is making good progress. The action of the market from now on will demand crop reports and weather, but export business must broaden out if your prices are to work much higher.

WHITNEY LETTER

New York, April 30 (By Branson, Brown & Co. Ltd.)—Whitney of the Wall Street Financial bureau says to-day:

"The market, as a whole, and particularly the oil group made additional progress in the last session of the week in contrast with the reactions which characterized the closing days of the week of the earlier part of the month despite the fact that to-day, which is the last day of the month, will undoubtedly witness additional loan calling with a possible advance in call money above five per cent. The prospect which the market holds out is for further advance not only for to-day but sufficiently far into the week until those who persist in worrying about the New York rediscount rate start to take profits prior to Thursday meeting.

"Despite all of this advance which has carried the oil to a new top for the year, the rails to highest average point in their history and then also to take the industrial to a new top, the market remains in relatively good condition as a result of the very numerous corrections of technical positions through independent reactions or by reactions, then periods of virtual activity and minimum price movement.

"Westinghouse Electric has resumed its advance. With it will go American Steel Foundries, the objectives on both issues continue as given previously viz 125 for Westinghouse and 85 for American Steel Foundries.

"Loews, however, its advance is completed, should reach 85 and Goodrich and Collins and Alkman should be bought while they are available below 90. Standard Oil of New York has just made one of the most radical one-day advances any of the listed standard oils ever made. While the trend of the issues to higher prices is quite undoubted, it will pay to await reaction before making any additional commitments.

"I see no need for profit taking yet in any of the issues which have been recommended here."

Mining On Up Trend; Is Sound Investment Roger Babson Reports

Growth of This Continent and Foreign Demand Has Largely Caught Up With Capacity of Industry

By ROGER W. BABSON

Boston, April 30.—Industries move in long waves; that is, first one group comes into prosperity and popularity and then subsides to a normal basis while another group succeeds it. Mining years ago reached its crest of popularity, and in recent years has been given scant attention as compared with manufacturing. We should not assume on this account that mining and mining securities are relegated permanently to the background.

If we look below the surface of economic movements we find that each new industry is most popular during the stage of development. As a result of this enthusiasm, excess capacity is built up. Excess capacity is followed by over-production, which in turn results in a sharp drop in earnings and leads to an era of unpopularity for the industry. That is what happened to mining and it is what will happen to many of the popular manufacturing industries of today. Meantime, mining has been undergoing a period of consolidation—a period during which the growth of the country to a considerable degree has caught up with the mining capacity. By this I do not mean that there is enough copper in the ground to last the world for a long time to come. However, a distinctly better balance is being established between production and demand. Known oil reserves are definitely limited to several decades' supply, considering the rapidly increasing rate of consumption. We must not assume that our raw materials are inexhaustible. As time goes on they will become higher in price, even when we consider that demand will increase and their securities will advance. The long-term investor will do well to look into these so-called raw materials of "extraneous" industries instead of putting all his money into the popular favorites of today.

COPPER CONDITIONS IMPROVED
Figures of supply, consumption and stocks of copper on hand are more favorable for the industry than they have been for several years. In the first place, producers of copper, through co-operation, have held production down to more reasonable levels. United States mine production for the first two months of 1928 totalled 271,778,000 pounds, compared with 290,800,000 pounds in the first two months of last year, a decline of 6 per cent. Since over-production for several years has been the bane of the copper business, any evidence that it is being curbed is helpful. It is even more helpful, however, when we consider that demand for copper is rapidly increasing. Domestic deliveries jumped to 147,578,000 pounds in February from 129,548,000 pounds in January and 135,128,000 pounds in February last year. Exports of refined copper increased in January to over 81,416,000 pounds, compared with 79,126,000 pounds in January, 1927. The price of copper has advanced to 14 1/2 cents, an increase of 14 per cent since the low point last summer. An advance in copper tends to bring out more metal, and this, in turn, tends to prevent future increases. However, production is under much better control than formerly, so the steady increase in demand from major consumers such as the electrical equipment, building and automobile industries is keeping the price situation firm. Future expansion of these industries, moreover, is promising for the long-range copper outlook. World stocks of copper now are lower than they were last autumn by some 25,000,000 pounds. The current improvement in the statistical position of the copper industry is encouraging, but should not be regarded as necessarily eliminating near term fluctuations in copper prices or in earnings of copper companies, or copper securities. I believe that over a long term, securities of some of the larger low cost producers will prove attractive investments.

NICKEL POPULAR AT PRESENT
Among the other metals nickel seems the most popular at present and it is feeling a strong demand from the automobile and alloy steel industries. Since both of these industries are increasing output they are requiring more nickel. Electrical equipment also is a factor. The production of crude oil in the United States and Mexico continues high and surplus stocks of refined lead during February advanced 11,000 tons. This weakens its statistical position. Zinc producers have had more success in co-operative control of production and if they can continue, it may effect the future price. For the long pull, these minor metals appear good, although temporarily they are suffering from overproduction.

OVER-SUPPLY OF CRUDE OIL
Most of the over-supply in petroleum is confined to crude oil. Gasoline, kerosene, lubricants and other refined products are in a much sounder position with production running close to demand. In the Mid-Continent petroleum field a great deal hinges on the efforts at restriction in Miller County, West Texas. If it is possible to keep down the output in that area, it is probable the rest of the Mid-Continent field will show production no greater than present levels and, probably, a gradual decline. In the California fields restrictive measures are expected to be taken to offset the increase at Long Beach.

CONSTRUCTION BONDS

When bonds are issued against properties, plants or improvements in the course of construction, they are generally known as construction bonds. Since the earning security of this type of loan is based on estimates of what the project should earn after it is completed and put into operation rather than on earning power of record, construction bonds, as a class, do not grade as high as securities which are a lien on property already income-paying. Consequently, in an analysis of construction loans it is necessary to examine the situation with considerable thoroughness. If the estimate of earnings proves excessive or if the property is not completed, the investor may find depreciated or defaulted security on his hands. Many construction bonds, however, are entirely sound and desirable. The securities of this class which carry the highest rating are those offered by

Surveys To Decide Feasibility Of Huge Cowichan Log Flume

Surveys in preparation for the installation of a huge flume to carry logs cut on Cowichan Lake, Vancouver Island, twenty-five miles to salt water, have been started by lumbering interests, it was learned to-day. If these interests are satisfied that this gigantic scheme would be a success they will apply to the provincial water administration to divert a large part of Cowichan River, most famous fishing stream in British Columbia, for use in operating the flume which would be unique in this Province.

The identity of capitalists who are backing the project was not revealed here, but their affairs are being handled by C. H. O'Halloran, Victoria solicitor.

IS ECONOMIC QUESTION

The engineering feasibility of the scheme has been established and the question to be settled now is whether sufficient timber could be handled by the proposed flume to justify the heavy expenditures involved. Cowichan Lake is perhaps the most important single logging centre in the Province and ships enormous quantities of logs to mills all over the Province, on the Esquimalt and Nanaimo and Canadian National Railway lines. It is proposed that large part of this business be diverted to a flume which could be operated at lower cost than a railway. Some of the biggest trees cut in the world would travel by an all-water route from fresh water to the sea in this way.

Engineers' investigations show that a sufficient fall exists between the level of the lake and salt water to carry logs satisfactorily.

GOING COMPETITION IN TUG CONTEST EXPECTED

Entry Is This Year Promised From Seattle While Local Tug Will Be Out to Defend Honors Won Last May 24; Handsome Trophy Presented for Yacht Race Which Will Follow Tugboat Event

United States competition in the annual May 24 tugboat race in connection with the holiday celebrations, is indicated in present arrangements for the contest. Last year when the race was inaugurated the entries were confined to local tugs.

According to Walter Miles, chairman of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, at least one entry is promised from Seattle. It is hoped that other tugboat companies on the other side of the line and on the mainland will challenge before the entries for the race close next month. Local entries have not yet been announced. The Island Tug and Barge Company's vessel Bur-rard Chief captured the honors last year and it is understood she will be again in the race this year to defend her title.

A considerable number of entries are expected this year for the yacht race, which will immediately follow the tugboat contest. John A. Victor has prepared a handsome trophy for which the yachts will compete and individual presentations will be made to each member of the winning crew. It is expected that entries from Vancouver for this race. The trophy will be on display in a downtown store during the month.

The tugboat race will be held over the same course as last year, along the Dallas Road waterfront, providing an excellent view of the contest throughout its duration from the beach. It will this year start shortly after 6 o'clock in the evening in order not to interfere with other celebrations during the day, and will be followed by the yacht race.

McCRACKEN-STOLL SCHOONER SAILS FOR ALEUTIANS

Prince Rupert, April 30.—The schooner Morrisset, bearing the McCracken-Stoll party to the Aleutian Islands sailed from Prince Rupert to-day and will call at Ketchikan for a few hours. Mr. McCracken, in an interview, said he expected to be back in Prince Rupert by November, but in event of a long search by ice there would be no possibility of returning earlier than the Summer of 1929. NEW FREIGHTER LOADING LUMBER

Ms. King Lud, on Maiden Trip to Coast, Arrives in Port

Ms. King Lud, on her maiden trip to the North Pacific, arrived here yesterday afternoon, and is loading lumber at Rithet docks for South Africa. She is under charter to the Canadian Trading Company, and will take on about 1,000,000 feet of local lumber. This vessel of British registry, is one of the latest launched, and has especially fine lines. Built by Harland and Wolff Limited, for the King Line Limited, she was handed over to her owners on March 15, after running satisfactory trials.

The King Lud is the fifth of the nine motor vessels ordered from Harland and Wolff Limited by the King Line Limited, and has been constructed to meet the requirements of the Board of Trade and Lloyd's 100 A1 class. She has a straight steam and cruiser stern, and her principal dimensions are: Length B.P., 400 feet; moulded, 34 ft. 8 in.; depth, 15.80. The double bottom extends the whole length of the ship, and is arranged for carrying oil fuel, lubricating oil, fresh water and victuals.

There are seven watertight bulkheads, which divide the vessel into eight watertight compartments. The five cargo holds are provided with ten derricks worked by ten three-ton electric winches, and the hatches are of sufficient capacity to meet the Board of Trade requirements for carrying grain. The main deck is of the telescopic type, and are suitable for navigating the Manchester Ship Canal.

All the engine-room and deck auxiliaries are electrically driven, and include windlass, warping winch, cargo winches, steering gear and all the pumps and other auxiliaries in the motor-room.

JAPANESE RACER SAILS SATURDAY

Will Probably Make Victoria Late Saturday and Sail on President Cleveland

Two liners of the American Mail Line will be in port over the week-end, one inbound from the Orient and the other sailing for Far Eastern ports. The President Cleveland with Captain G. W. Yardley on the bridge will arrive in Victoria from Seattle at 5 o'clock Saturday afternoon, outbound for Yokohama and other Oriental ports.

There is a possibility that the Cleveland will be held over here an hour or so for Ryukichi Matsu, Japanese world racer, who is now on the Atlantic on his way to New York en route to Tokyo. Matsu left Cherbourg on the Aquitania late Saturday evening and is expected in New York on Wednesday.

If all goes well he should make the journey from that city to Seattle in three days and so be able to race the Cleveland before she leaves Victoria.

The President Pierce of the same line, commanded by Captain H. Nelson, will arrive in Victoria on Monday morning, May 7, at 7 o'clock from the Orient with passengers, cargo and mail.

BERLIN-PARIS NON-STOP AIR ROUTE OPENS

Berlin, April 30.—The longest commercial air service in Europe covered in non-stop flight was inaugurated yesterday over the Berlin-Paris route by the Lufthansa and Farner Companies. Flights left the terminal cities at noon, the German and being served by the longest German land plane which was recently named "Hermann Goering" in honor of the Lufthansa pilot who guided the Bremen.

The planes cover in a flight of five and a half hours the distance for which express trains require seventeen hours. An innovation in the first regular flight of the season was the serving of a full-course hot luncheon on board. Captain Wendt who has covered his 560,000 kilometers as a service pilot, was in charge of the ship.

An illustration of the first regular flight of the Luftschiffbau Zeppelin Company is given by the fact that Hermann Koehl was the servant of a full-course hot luncheon on board the Cuxhaven Windmill when it covered 500,000 kilometers as a service which was in charge of the ship.

Uncle Wiggily's May Flowers

(By Howard R. Garis)

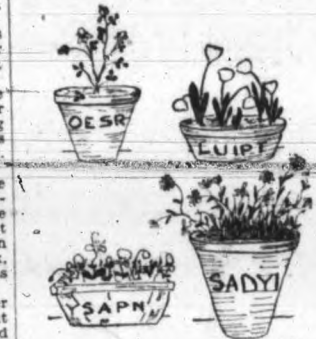

Squeakie Squealer, the little runaway piggy boy, sat looking at the puzzle picture Uncle Wiggily had made for him. As you remember, it was a drawing of five long sticks and six short sticks and near them was a pig-like Squeakie.

"The puzzle," said Uncle Wiggily, "is to make from these sticks a pen for the runaway pig. Can you do it, Squeakie?"

"There aren't enough sticks to make a pen," grunted Squeakie. But after he had fooled around a bit, twisting the sticks this way and turning his head the other way, Squeakie said, "It can't be done!"

"Oh, yes it can!" chuckled Uncle Wiggily. With his pencil the old rabbit gentleman began drawing the sticks again. He took three of the short sticks and put them at the top and on the right side of the first long stick, making the letter P through it. It was rather square shaped.

Next Uncle Wiggily took the other three short sticks and stuck them out straight on the right side of the second long stick. This made the letter E. Then the rabbit gentleman slanted one away and when Uncle Wiggily was in the bungalow for a moment, Jackie and Peetle Boy Wow came running along and began to dig for bones in the soft, brown earth. And then Uncle Wiggily said: "I must give these little animal children a hard puzzle to do which will keep them so busy they will forget to dig up my garden until the May flowers have time to grow." So Uncle Wiggily drew a picture of four pots, each with a flower growing in it. But the rabbit gentleman jumped up the letters of the flowers' names. "Now the puzzle," said the bunny gentleman to Jackie, Peetle and the others, "is to see if you can name the four flowers growing in the pots." And the children sat down to do the puzzle, leaving the bunny's flower bed untouched so the seeds would sprout.

"Ha! Ha! Ha!" laughed Squeakie. "But I didn't see the word pen, Uncle Wiggily!"

"He," chuckled the Squeakie who was hurried off so he forgot for a long time.

To-morrow's Horoscope

TUESDAY, MAY 1, 1928

Astrologers read this as rather a threatening day in which adverse planetary influences are strong. It is a day not auspicious for traveling or for moving, since surprising experiences may be expected. Wisdom lingers under this way, it is asserted by the seers, and for this reason it is well to delay important decisions. Under this direction of the stars it is easy to be deceived and persons may be cheated in unforseen ways. The rule is not favorable to aviation since accidents may be more numerous than usual.

All the signs appear to preface much befuddling of the public mind over political issues. Voters will grope with unusual blindness. While this rule prevails there may be an inclination toward excessive weariness, especially among intellectual workers.

Inasmuch as this month is strongly influenced by Neptune there is likely to be even more political propaganda extant than is common in presidential years. Women now come under a rule making for ambition to reach legislative positions, but they appear to be subject to disappointing aspects of the stars.

The stars appear to be friendly to workers and to their political preferences. Democracy will gain headway in the British Isles and social lines will vanish in other European countries. It is foretold. Engineers are subject to the best possible influences at this time when many will achieve great success.

Persons whose birthdate it is may expect journeys and changes in the coming year. Children born on this day probably will be inventive and able to realize on their brain products. (Copyright 1928) A standard tennis court is thirty-six feet wide.

EXPECT CENSUS TO COVER B.C.

Most Municipalities Plan to Take Advantage of New Provincial Law

Will Give Province Definite Idea of Growth Since 1921 Census

With all municipalities taking advantage of new provincial legislation under which they may make a new estimate of their population, British Columbia will have virtually a new census before the end of the year. It is expected at the Parliament Buildings.

While only two municipalities, Duncan and Kamloops, have formally applied to the Government for the right to take a census which will be accepted by the provincial authorities as accurate, it is understood virtually all municipal councils will take this action before the end of the year. Inquiries received by Government offices show that municipalities generally are desirous of implementing the new legislation.

Unless a municipality takes a census this year it will not be able to do so for five years. It was explained at the Parliament Buildings. Every five years municipal authorities will be allowed to survey their populations in an authoritative way. Of course, they may do so more often, but the census figures thus compiled will not be accepted by the Provincial Government in fixing municipal per capita grants.

Under the present arrangement, the municipalities will take the census in close co-operation with the Government, the provincial authorities supervising the work and the municipal councils paying for it.

The next distribution of provincial pari-mutual grants and motor licenses to municipalities taking a census will be based on the official figures thus prepared. Liquor profit distribution is based on school attendance and is not affected by census figures. This year's municipal census will give British Columbia the first really definite idea of its population since the Dominion census of 1921. While it will not cover unorganized districts, Government agencies are able to estimate the population of such areas fairly accurately. At present it is guessed at 150,000 add, by adding this figure to the total municipal population, provincial officials will know how much the provincial population has grown in the last seven years.

Would Preserve Scenic Beauty

Strong protest against the cutting down of timber along the scenic highways of the Province was made Saturday at the closing session of the Grand Post, Native Sons of British Columbia. The following resolution was passed by the post:

"The Native Sons of British Columbia, in convention assembled, deplore the fact that much of our beautiful and scenic stretches of timber on our highways, which have been of great public benefit and enjoyment, are rapidly being depleted, in spite of our frequent and continued protests."

Copies of the resolution will be sent to the Provincial and Dominion Governments.

The meeting also passed a resolution recommending that native sons buy British Columbia products whenever possible.

BATTERY UNIT WINS HONORS

Officers and men of the 56th Heavy Battery, Fifth British Columbia Coast Brigade, with a number of guests, gathered at their annual banquet in the Chamber of Commerce dining room on Saturday evening. During the year the performance of the unit has been outstanding, with the Governor-General's Cup, the Greaves as well as the Hugh Blake Cup falling to their ability in competition.

Lieut.-Col. J. C. Harris, V.D., officer commanding the Fifth B.C. Coast Brigade, one of the guests of honor for the evening, praised the unit highly for its year's work and referred to the progress made and the high efficiency shown.

Major J. B. Clearhouse, commanding the 56th Battery, presided during the evening. He, too, had praise for the men and his brother officers.

A short toast list followed the dinner, and "The King," including "The

LECTURER TALKS ON SPIRITISM

Takes Advantage of People After Loss of Loved Ones, He Says

"The spirits that take on the semblance of departed loved ones and appear purporting to be the dead are none other than the devil and the imps of hell," asserted Professor Charles T. Emerson last night to an audience that completely filled the Big Tabernacle on Pandora and Vancouver Streets.

"These spirits cannot be the dead folks," he said, "for the Bible teaches through its entirety that the dead know not anything. Any man would have gone to heaven when he died it would have been David. But Peter on the day of Pentecost declared emphatically that David had not yet ascended to heaven."

"In Revelations XII, 7-9 we learn of the great war in heaven in which Lucifer and about a billion angels tried to overthrow God and the true angels, but God cast them all out of heaven into this world and as they went they hissed back eternal vengeance on Jesus Christ. All these fallen angels are busy day and night now trying to devise means of deception for the people of this world so that they might believe and be drawn away from the allegiance to God."

"The reason spiritism gains so many adherents is because it takes advantage of people just after they have lost a loved one. And while their hearts are broken they come to them and try to win them over to the side of the devil by purporting to be the departed one. Just after the war there was a great wave of spiritism because of so many relatives who were killed at the front."

Professor Emerson will speak Tuesday night on: "The Unquenchable Fire and the Worm that Never Dies."
